the several matters above stated, and with re-to time, as they may see cause, to examine upon oath the Physicians and others attending upon his Majesty's person, touching the state of his Majesty's health, and all matters relative thereto."

Lord G. L. Gower, followed Mr. Perceval and moved the following amendment,

"That her Majesty shall have the sole direction of such a portion of his Majesty's household, as shall be deemed requisite, with a due attention to his Majesty's sacred person, and the maintenance of his royal dignity.

Mr. Martineau seconded the amendment.

Lord Milnes and Sir S. Romilly, and Mr. Johnston, were all in favor of the amendment.

Mr. Addington and Mr. Stephens supported Mr.
Perceval's resolution.

When our account came away Mr. Whitbread, Mr.
Sheridan, and Mr. Ryder had yet to speak. It seems a matter of much doubt how the division will terminate, though Mr. Perceval seems confident of success. The debate is expected to be very long, and shall appear in our next.

Two Protests have been entered on the Lords Journals against the Resolutions passed in that House on Friday, the 29th ult. They are signed by the Princes of the Blood as well as by a numerous body of Peers, but as they are in substance a reiteration of the sentiments which they delivered in the discussion on that day we think their insertion unnecessary.

Arrived yesterday, at his house in Newtown Pery from Dublin, the Rev. Archdeacon Hill.

The Virago gun-brig, Lieut. Pittman, with ten sail of transports under convoy from Portsmouth, arrived at Cove on Tuesday last—three of the transports have on board the 37th regiment, which are to be disembarked at Cove.

The following are the bulletins received since our last.

Windsor-castle, Dec. 30—His Majesty has passed a night, and is as well to-day, as he was yesterday.

Windsor-castle, Jan 1.—His Majesty has passed a quiet night, without much sleep, and continues the same as he was yesterday."
