ported the proceed-of the catholic committee, in which he expatiated on the eminent and important services it had rendered the catholic body, as well by its attention to the forwarding of their petition to Parliament, as by the laborious and highly commendatory compilation of the grievances under which they laboured, by the remaining restrictions of the Penal code, Mr. O'Gorman concluded by moving certain resolutions, which were in substance as follows:—

First—That, being impressed with the unalterable conviction of the undoubted right of every man to worship his Creator according to the dictates of his own conscience, we deem it our duty, thus publicly and solemnly to declare our decision, that no Government can inflict any pain, penalty, or privation, for obeying that form of Christian Faith, which in his conscience he believes to be right.

Second—That, we again petition the Legislature for a repeal of the laws affecting the catholics of Ireland.

Third—That, in exercising our undoubted right to petition, we will adhere to the ancient forms of the constitution, &c.

Fourth—That, a committee be appointed to inquire into the Penal laws, and make a report of the same, within one month, all which were carried unanimously

Mr. Byrne proposed a fifth resolution as follows:
That, the committee to be appointed to prepare petitions to Parliament do consist—

First—Of catholic Peers, and eldest sons of Peers and catholic Baronets.

Second—Catholic prelates.

Third—Ten persons chosen from the counties, and the survivors of the Delegates of 1793 to form an integral part of these ten.

Fourth—Four persons from each of the counties in Ireland; which resolutions were likewise carried unanimously.

After Mr. O'Gorman and Mr. Byrne had moved the resolution.

Mr. Finlay addressed the meeting in a speech at great length, which embraced a variety of topics; he recommended a system of petitioning every session, until the claims of the catholics were acceded to, and that in future the petition should be presented the first day of each session

Mr. Trotter, another protestant gentleman followed Mr. Finlay, and adverted to the great obligation which his country owed to the late Mr. Dobbs; he said the great revolution of 1638, though glorious to England, was fatal to Ireland. He alluded to the late debate in the House of Lords, where Lords Eldon and Redesdale desired to know what pledge or security the catholics were willing to grant; but those noble Lords did not say what security would satisfy them. In the course of that debate, Mr. Trotter observed, it had been distinctly stated that the sole cause of Mr. Pitt's going out of office in 1801, was his inability to carry the catholic question. If such was his motive, how did it happen that in the year 1805, he returned to office without effecting it? Mr. Trotter concluded by recommending unanimity, that all petty differences should be forgotten, and that by such conduct and such meetings as the present, their cause must be successful.

A vote of £500, as a token of gratitude for the services of Mr. Hay; and also, £500 to Mr. Todd Jones, for his eminent services; and a resolution to open a subscription for Mr. Finerty, for which purpose Major Bryan instantly subscribed £100. Mr. Hay was continued Secretary.

It was highly gratifying and creditable to perceive that throughout, the most perfect unanimity and harmony prevailed at this most numerous and highly respectable meeting.

Among these present were observed Lords Southwell and Prench, together with a great number of the principal catholic gentry of Ireland.

COMMISSION INTELLIGENCE.

DUBLIN, JULY 9, 1811.

This day Robert Howlet, John Motley, and John Toole, were tried for a burglary and robbery committed in the dwelling-house of A. Ross Esq. in Booters-town Lane, on the 9th day of May, 1811. A voluntary confession made by these unfortunate men on the following morning at the police-office, Duke-street, before Richard Guinness, Esq. was given in evidence by the magistrate; and independent of the confession, John Motley was identified by Mr. Ross, as having entered his dwelling-house, and snapped a pistol at Mrs.
Ross, which burned priming. It also appeared that part of the property stolen from Mr. Ross, consisting of some articles of silver, were found concealed in the chimney of Howlet's dwelling-house, by Mr. Dowling, a magistrate of the county of Dublin, who, it appeared, had acted with great activity in the detection and apprehension of those men. They were all upon the received at Kingston. They stated that intelligence from Porto Bello intimated that the British Government had proposed to garrison Paname, Chagre, and also that place with English troops. The English officer who carried the propositions, was said to have been ill received: and it was added, that if the British attempted to send troops to any part of the Spanish main it would make an unfavourable impression. A number of incendiaries, a Montego Bay, had made various attempts to burn down that town, without any apparent reason for so doing. In all their diabolical attempts they had been frustrated. A reward of above £500 was offered for the apprehension of the offenders.

His Grace the Lord Lieutenant has been pleased to appoint John Beresford Lovett, Esq. to be Inspector General of Excise, in the room of Robert Johnston, Esq. deceased.

The Hon. W. Wellesley Pole was re-elected one of the Representatives for the Queen's county, on Monday last.

Sunday last, James M. Nemara, groom to the Right Hon. Lord Massy, bathing in the river near the great water fall at Doonass, was carried off by the rapidity of the current and unfortunately drowned.

The Races of Mallow will commence on Wednesday next, the 17th inst.

BIRTH—At Dromoland, on Monday evening, the lady of Sir Edward O'Brien, Bart. of a daughter.

MARRIAGES—In Dublin, on the 4th inst. John Richard Ponsonby, Esq. Surveyor of Tarbert.—In Cork, the Rev. E. Sweete, to Miss Eliza Bigger, daughter to H. Bigger, Esq. M. D.

DIED—At three o'clock, yesterday morning, in George's-street, in the bloom of youth and beauty, of a tedious illness, which she bore with truly Christian patience, Mrs. O'Brien, wife of Terence O'Brien, Esq. of this city; her death was as calm and resigned as her life was pure and virtuous.—A few days ago in Guernsey, after a lingering illness, Miss Thornly, daughter of Thomas Thornly, Esq. Barrack Master of that Island, and sister to Mr. Thornly, of Thornly Hall, county Tipperary.—Yesterday morning, at his lodgings in Patrick-street, very much regretted, Roger Adams, of Ballycullane, in this county, Esq.—On the 6th inst. at his seat at Woodwork, co. Cork, Timothy Callaghan, Esq. Attorney, universally regretted by a numerous circle of relatives and friends.—Wednesday morning, of an apopleptic fit, in Ennis, Mr. D. O'Sullivan, for many years professor of mathematics at Ennis school.—Saturday, at Ballymartle, co. Cork, the Rev. Daniel Murphy, a gentleman of distinguished piety and exemplary manners.—On Sunday last, in Patrick-street, Cork, Miss Sweeny, daughter of Mr. John Sweeny, Attorney.— At Gibraltar, of the Walcheren fever, aged 51 years, Capt. Richard Tribe, of the 82d regt.
