Archbishop of Dublin in consequence of the continuing indisposition of Dr. Ceaver.
The estimate of the damages by the late hurricane at St Bartholomew's, in the West Indies, is 160,000 dollars. Four of the wharfs on the island were entirely swept away.
Wednesday week, about 3 o'clock, six men went into a boat belonging to the wood yard of Dumbarton, opposite to Milton. In consequence of carrying too much sail, the boat soon after overset and before any assistance could be sent out, three of the men were unfortunately drowned. One of the bodies has since been found.
The ship Maria of Dublin, Capt. Murphy, bound for Westport for Calway, was put back—she was near being lost, and the captain says he never experienced more dreadful gales than he encountered on Tuesday and Wednesday last, a few leagues west of the islands of Aran.
A few nights ago, near Ballinlaw, a lighter sunk, with four persons on board, three of whom (two men and a woman) were unhappily drowned; the fourth having fortunately saved his life by clinging to an oar.
Tuesday night, a very violent wind from the N. W. was felt in Tralee. A ship of war was lost it is said in the bay of Dingle, and owing to the fury of the tempest, no assistance could be afforded, and very few of the hands escaped from a watery grave.
The King's county catholic meeting took place on Monday last.—In point of numbers and respectability it equalled any of the other counties. Lord Rossmore and Col. Steppney apologised by letter for their non-attendance, but heartily approved of the object of the meeting. A number of protestant gentlemen attended, and delivered congratulatory speeches on the occasion; amongst the numbers were—Maurice N. Connor, of Mount-Pleasant; H. Malone, of Palaspark; Richard Malone, of ditto; Richard Warburton, of Garryhinch; Garret O'Moore, of Cloghan castle; and Hubert Moore, Esqrs.—In our next we will give a report of the meeting.
John D'Arcy, Esq. of Kiltolla, High Sheriff of the county of Galway, has been deprived of that situation and is succeeded in the duties of his office, for the remainder of this year, by Mr. Burke, of St. Clerans.—This unusual proceeding is understood to be the consequence of the undue liberation of the prisoners from the jail of Galway, by the order of Mr. D'Arcy.—Continuation.
James Reynolds, a prisoner in the county goal of Galway, who was to be executed on the 15th Nov. next, for horse stealing, has been respited till further orders.
On Sunday night, between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, the mail coach proceeding from Cork to Dublin, by Cashel, was attacked within four miles of the latter city by eight ruffians, who intercepted the coach by placing cars across the roads; the fellows fired at the coach, which shots were spiritedly returned by the guards who beat them off, and the coach proceeded without further molestation. Immediately on arriving at Cashel, a party of the military, with one of the guards, were detached from thence, who succeeded in detecting four of the intended assassins all charged with being concerned in the attack. There was only one inside passenger, and one outside on the vehicle, who escaped unhurt.
As the Waterford mail coach was coming out of Dublin on Tuesday night, a crowd of carmen began to shout and throw stones after it. We understand that the guard drew a pistol and shot one of the party, who lies dangerously ill, and, it is thought, will not recover. The guard, it is considered, did no more than his duty.
ROBBERY OF THE ENGLISH TREASURY.—The locks of the desks, and others in the Treasury, have lately been broken open, and the property secured by them stolen. The depredation was committed on Tuesday night without the least suspicion attaching to any particular person. A Bow-street officer was sent for and examined the locks and premises that had been opened, but it could not be ascertained whether it was done by any person who has had access to the premises, or by common robbers, who expected to find the national treasure from the name the building bears. The principal property stolen consists of books and stationery.
On Thursday next a fine ship, to be named La Hogue, of 74 guns, will be launched from the King's yard, Deptford. The Princess of Wales, the Lords of the Admiralty, Lord Spencer, and several distinguished characters, are expected to visit this gratifying scene. His Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex has had another relapse.
Wednesday last Robert Gumbleton, Esq. of Castle-richard, a minor, had his thigh broken by his horse falling under him at Lismore race course.
Monday last exhibited the cheerful celebration of the harvest home, at Castlemartyr, county Cork—an occasion which always manifests, in a striking and exemplary manner, the judicious hospitality of its noble proprietor. Several hundred persons, comprising the families of Lord Shannon's labourers and workmen, were regaled with an excellent dinner, and enlivened by the animating recreation of their favourite tunes and dances.
By the Fox frigate, which has arrived at Spithead with dispatches from India, we learn, that the grand expedition against Batavia and Manila had been delayed, from various causes, but had at length sailed, under the command of that popular and able officer, Sir Sam. Auchmuty, the commander in chief of the Madras army. He has under him General Weatherall, and a great part of the ablest officers (King's and Company's) in India.
It is intended to establish a military post between the West Indies and our settlements in the North of America. For this purpose a dock-yard is to be formed in the Bermudas, which is to be furnished. Capt. Loring of the artillery, is intrusted with the command, & with the direction of the works.
In the West Indies every thing is quiet, but the troops are rather unhealthy, and several regiments which have become skeletons, expect to be sent home.
Letters from Senegal of the 10th July, inform us, that at that time, Colonel Maxwell, and the troops and settlers there and at Goree, were healthy.
We stated in our last, that Lieut.-Colonel Cochrane had been tried by a court martial in Portugal for writing disrespectful letters to his commanding officer.—He was found guilty and sentenced to be severely reprimanded.

completely altered, by a board of field officers, appointed for that purpose by the Prince Regent. They are to be in future as plain as possible; and the hussars, viz. 7th, 10th or Prince's own, 15th or King's own, and 18th, are to continue to wear the splendid uniforms by which these regiments are at present distinguished; which will probably be an inducement for young men of fortune and fashion (who wish to make the army their profession) commencing their military career in the hussars.
The Post Masters General have offered a reward of £200, for the apprehension and conviction of any of the persons concerned in the attack on the mail coach between Callan and Cashel, on the night of the 23th of September last.
The sloop Betsey, of Wexford, Capt. T. Lambard, with a cargo of sheep for Liverpool, met with a heavy gale of wind on the night of the 25th ult. and put into Beaumaris, with the loss of about 40 head, which were suffocated during the gale.
ANOTHER SOLEMN WARNING!—General Moreau is now on a tour through the Northern States, accompanied by two gentlemen as his secretaries or companions, who, in all their excursions are very minute in ascertaining the state of the two great parties which now divide the country—their feelings on the subject of a war with either of the belligerents, and how far their prejudices and predilections will carry them in that event. These are facts which the people ought seriously to ponder upon, before it becomes too late for them to act.—Whig.
Want of room prevents our inserting, this day, observations on Catholics Registering their Freeholds.

BIRTH—Saturday night, at his house on Arthur's-quay, the lady of John Boyse Esq. of a daughter.—Friday evening last, at her sister's, Mrs. O'Brien's house in Bank-place, the lady of Thady O'Halloran, of Ballycaneen, county Clare, Esq. of a son.
MARRIED—On Saturday evening last, Mr. Michael Molony, of Denmark-street, to Miss Clarke, daughter to Mr. Thomas Clarke, of Arthur's quay.
Rev. Mich. J. Collins, O.S.F.
On Thursday last, this good and truly great man died at the Franciscan Friary in Cork.—He had been in that city during a period of 25 years. Eminently distinguished for his virtues—to follow this pious man thro' all the exertions of his charitable life, would be to trace the rise, progress, and success of many of the most useful institutions in Cork. In the year 1801, a period of great scarcity, he personally conducted the establishment for the relief of the poor; and when, on the appearance of returning plenty, many, even of the well disposed, wished to withhold the accustomed funds, Mr. Collins appealed to some of those good men Cork abounds with, and amongst them, Messrs Beamish & Crawford, enabled Mr. Collins to keep up that extensive establishment, by which the effects of a sudden desertion of the poor was humanely prevented. He was secretary to the fever hospital, the dispensary, the society for the relief of the poor, and many other institutions. His sermons were bold, feeling, and tended to unmask vice, in abashing its followers—they were numerous attended to by all classes; for in them was recommended to love each other for the sake of him, whose minister he was. In the page of biography we may find the achievements of the hero or the labors of the statesman, but in the widow's tears, in the universal sob that attended his clay-cold corpse were proofs as strong as those holy writs, that Mr. Collins will long hold a place in the grateful recollection of the people of Cork.—In private life his manners were amiable and cheerful even to liveliness. Never losing sight of the great objects of his mission he often seized the moment of social influence to promote the objects of social happiness. On Saturday his remains were conveyed to the church yard of St. Anne's Shannon, where there they were interred, and many of the most respectable citizens attended to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory.
DEAD—On Friday last, at Dangan, county Clare, Mrs. Creagh, wife to Michael Creagh, Esq. and daughter to the late Cornelius O'Callaghan, of Kilgooy, Esq. a lady most sincerely lamented by her family and acquaintance.—At the See-house, on Monday se'ennight, in the 83d year of his age, and 30th of his residence in his diocese, the Right Reverend Thomas Percy, D. D. Lord Bishop of Dromore.—Thursday last, at his seat near Kilkenny, Patrick Deen, Esq.; he was a very worthy character, and few will be more regretted. In early life he was a poor man, yet died possessed of property worth £4,500 a year.—At Guinalde, in Portugal, on the 8th ult. Brig.-Gen G. D. Drummond.—Lieut.-Col. J. Johnstone, late of the 45th regiment of foot.—On Wednesday last, at Killaloe, much lamented, Pierce Ryan, Esq. M. D.—At Rathmines, on the 25th ult. in the 26th year of her age, Mrs. Eliza Wilson, wife of Francis Wilson, Esq.—On Wednesday last, in Dublin, in the 61st year of his age, deeply lamented, Adam Loftus Lynn, Esq.
