

Judges de-
point in con-
on that an
nine or be-
opinion was
al practice.
re being no
nging in li-
on were too
tice in this
ecused par-
ging in li-
n the bill of
urth place
challenging
same time
et.

ment, Mr.
ermitted to
up to the
ght to put
r senior—I
old.—The
at there is Grand Ju-
I hold a
at a Grand
ood's Insti-
nd the fol-
Grand Ju-
ndictment
le case of the posi-

roduce it
justice Os-
was men-
ed, I pro-
ot a mere
which the
is expressed.

anding all
uion, that
a Grand
—He ad-
a consola-
Hawkins,
ious Mr.
it it not a
ould cite ounsel had
ee on re-
ht of chal-
s not pro-
ent prece-
stitution
or in the
ould re-
imine, he
e learned
d by state with the n with the
was not a

o the fol-
public im-
eard of a
ding of a
e subject
stit jury;
a person

gular instance of this happy state of things. The cases which came to be heard were trivial and unimportant; they developed nothing but the offences of peaceable times; and they redounded unspeakably to the credit of those who have the care of public morals and the guardianship of public security. This gratifying view of our social order may be extended all over the island. The last circuits exhibited nothing different from the tranquillity witnessed in the Metropolis; and all the offences that called for the interference of the Law were those that belonged to ordinary times. All this I consider the more consolatory and gratifying, because it was remarkable at a time when infidelities were most active in endeavouring to agitate the public mind. You are aware, Gentlemen, that at no period were Orators, Scribblers and Printers, more industrious in circulating their poison throughout the country; but it was wisely ordered their efforts should fail and prove abortive in proportion as they were malignant and insidious. A great portion of the public prints have become organs of the most mischievous and pernicious doctrines. Instead of sustaining the ancient character of the Irish Press—of selecting fair topics for candid and dispassionate discussion—they have lent themselves to the purposes of sedition and disaffection.—They have become vehicles of thoughts the most irritating, principles the most dangerous, and doctrines the most inflammatory, and those they have scattered around for the ensnarement of the credulous and the unwary.—Their object they assert, is to obtain an extension of privileges for Catholics, which is figuratively called—Emancipation. Do they fancy that this measure is to be carried by storm. Do those men imagine that the Government is to be forced, the Parliament to be goaded to a compliance with every wish of theirs. Do they presume that a measure which must proceed by slow movements, shall be hurried on by forced marches in obedience to their intemperance. I only speak for myself; but I have been both in and out of Parliament a zealous supporter of Catholic claims; however in the hottest moments of my ardour I never regarded emancipation as a thing paramount to the public peace.—The public peace is the most momentous concern that a nation can have; it is salus populi, and therefore it is superior to all other considerations. The public peace, Gentlemen, must not be surrendered to factions. The Government of the country must protect it; they must watch over it with a jealous eye, or be guilty of a gross dereliction of their duty.

It is intimated to you, Gentlemen, that certain Bills of Indictment will go up to you touching some persons who have been charged with a breach of the provisions of a certain Statute, commonly called the convention act. If those Indictments be substantiated, I think it would be prudent that you found bills accordingly, in order that the subject should be put in a course of judicial investigation. It will be for this court then to determine whether the offences imputed to those men really and bona fide come within the provisions of the act. I will not detain you longer Gentlemen.

THE ARMY.

Generals Lumley, Houston, and Howard, are removed from Lord Wellington's Staff.

Volunteering is very spiritedly going on from the Irish militia regiments in England.

The Roscommon and King's County regiments, stationed at Plymouth have commenced volunteering for the regulars—73 of the former turned out on Tuesday. The 5th and 28th regiments are the favourites.

The Kings County regiment of militia, landed from the transports at Plymouth on Saturday evening, and were billeted on the different inns and public houses, till barracks are vacated for their reception. They are as fine a body of men as the Roscommon, and have every appearance of regular disciplined troops. The vessels that brought over these men, had a most dangerous and tempestuous passage, and three of them were twice near foundering.—Star.

The Louth regiment of Irish militia are expected at Plymouth. This, with the Roscommon and King's co. are the only Irish regiments that are to be stationed at Plymouth.

The small-pox raged with such virulence on board of the transports which conveyed the King's County Militia from this country to England, that ten children died on the passage. So much for the prejudices which have been so unfairly excited against vaccination.

MARRIED—On Wednesday last, Peter Longlinen, of Dunbell, county Kilkenny, Esq. to Maria, eldest daughter of Walter Butler, of Kilmagar, in said county, Esq.

DIED—Yesterday morning at Rivermount, in this county, of a decline, in the bloom of youth, Thomas Geary, Jun. Esq. a young gentleman whose death is sincerely lamented by his family and acquaintance.—Suddenly, on Saturday morning, at Ratygrove, county Cork, Edward Penneck, Esq.—In Portugal, of a fever, on the 24th of August, Major St. John Travers, son to Robert Travers, Esq. of Banuon.

EXPORTS—The Favorite, for Cadiz, 931 brs. wheat 2937 yards Irish linen, Creagh and Arthur.

MR. INGLEBY,

HAVING finished his first two Evenings' Performance in the Assembly Rooms, Charlotte's-Quay, (being attended by the most respectable and crowded Audience ever witnessed, who evinced their decided Approbation by repeated shouts of Applause, and for which he returns his most heartfelt Thanks,) again respectfully informs them, that he will perform for Three Evenings more, which will be on

Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday,

With varieties of Performance each Evening; and, at the particular desire of THOMAS MAUNSELL, Esq. for the convenience of such Ladies and Gentlemen as reside in the Country, and who could not attend in the Evening, Mr. INGLEBY will (in addition to the above Days) perform at

One o'Clock on Friday next.

Limerick, Nov. 12.

TUTOR.

WANTED by a Family residing in the Country, an elderly, sober Man as TUTOR, to instruct a few Children in Reading, Writing, and the Use of the Globes, &c.—Application to be made at the Office of this PAPER. Limerick, Nov. 12.

BANKRUPT'S SALE.

In the matter of Bryan Hanrahan a Bankrupt. TO be Sold by Auction, before the major part of the Commissioners, at the Royal Exchange, Dublin, on Friday, 15th Nov. inst. at two o'clock in the afternoon, the said Bankrupt's interest in a Dwelling house opposite the Corn-market, in the city of Limerick, demised to Bankrupt at the yearly rent of £22. 15s. late in possession of M. O'Farrell—also, the said Bankrupt's interest in four new Dwelling Houses and two Plots of Building Ground, adjoining said other Dwelling House, and demised to him at the yearly rent of £150 on which the Bankrupt lately expended near One Thousand Pounds in valuable improvements.

These Premises are respectively held for Terms of three Lives, with Covenant for perpetual renewal—also the said Bankrupt's interest in a Yearly Profit Rent of £11 Sterling, arising out of a Dwelling House and Premises situate in John's-street, in said City, now in possession of James Foley, and held by Bankrupt for a Term of 999 Years.

Every Information as to Title, &c. will be made known, by applying to NICHOLAS MAHON, Limerick, Agent to the Commission and Assignee.

Limerick, Nov. 12, 1811.

A GENTLEMAN,

Who has been at College,

WOULD wish to engage as CLASSICAL TUTOR in a respectable Family. He would also undertake Writing and Arithmetic. A Country Situation would be preferred.

Apply at the Office of this PAPER.

Limerick, Nov. 3.