Majority against the motion 85.—This division is, however, most cheering to our Catholic countymen, for when we consider the rank and character of the Minority, and the accession of strength they are continually acquiring, we conceive that the attainment of Catholic freedom cannot be far distant. The following statement proves this position:—

Account of the numbers who voted in favor of Catholic Emancipation, in the discussions of 1805, 1811, and 1812:

House of Lords.	House of Commons.
1805..... 49	1805..... 91
1811..... 62	1811..... 83
1812..... 102	1812..... 215

The Irish Grain Distillation bill was read a first time in the House of Commons on Friday last, and ordered to be read a second time on the Monday following.

Votes of Thanks were to have been moved in both Houses of Parliament on Monday last, to the Earl of Wellington, and the gallant army who had taken Badajos by storm.

On Thursday a cabinet council was held, on the contents of the recent communication from the French government; and the same evening, Mr. Wagstaff, the messenger, was sent from the foreign office, with an answer. He reached Deal on Friday morning, and deliverd his dispatch to the port admiral, who immediately forwarded it to Calis by the Cordelia, with a flag of truce. Nothing has transpired with respect to the purport of the communication alluded to, but it is generally conjectured that it contained an insidious repetition of those pacific overtures to this country, which have been the usual prelude to fresh aggres-sions upon the state of the continent.

The English journals contain a state paper, being a declaration in council, that the orders in council shall be revoked, whenever the Berlin and Milan decrees shall, by some authentic act of the French government, be absolutely and unconditionally repealed.—The document shall be given in full in our next publication.

Disturbances in England, we lament to say, are extending. A vast body of rioters are reported to have assembled in the West Riding of Yorkshire, to which place the Oxford Blues have been dispatched. In Cheshire, a riot is reported to have taken place, in which fifty persons were killed and wounded on both sides, and the soldiery repulsed. In consequence of the riots at Middleton, twenty five persons were found dead in the wood near the town.

We (Statesman) have just received information, that Ministers are in possession of accounts from Yorkshire, which represent that county to be in a most alarming state. The whole of the West Riding is said to be in the possession of the rioters, who are reported to be collected together to the amount of one hundred and thirty thousand, and to have been joined by the Local Militia.

THE ARMY.

The losses sustained by Earl Wellington's army at Ciudad Rodrigo and Badajoz are about to be repaired by strong reinforcements, which are on the eve of sailing from Plymouth.

On Thursday detachments of the 14th, 12th and 13th Light Dragoons, arrived at Plymouth, and were immediately embarked as reinforcements of their respective regiments now in Portugal.

Detachments of the 14th and 16th Light Dragoons, are also to be embarked at Plymouth for Portugal.

Tuesday the second battalion of the 25th regiment marched from Glasgow barracks, for Berwick.

Military dispatches have been received from Jamica: the remaining companies of the 54th and 55th regiments are under orders to return to England, as soon as the 4th battalion of the 60th regiment shall arrive.

The skeleton of the 52d regiment is on its way from Lisbon. It consists of 13 officers and only 114 men.

The 29th regiment is now on its march to perform the King's duty at Windsor.

The following report appeared in the second edition of our last publication, we therefore think it necessary to say, that later accounts from Loudon, state that there was not the least foundation for the rumour:

Statesman Office, two o'Clock.

We have just heard that a duel took place this morning between the Earl of Donoughmore, and Lord Yarmouth, in which the latter was wounded severely in the thigh. The cause assigned is a passage in the speech delivered by the Noble Earl on Tuesday night, supposed to allude to the political influence of the family of Lord Yarmouth.

corn during the continuance of the present high price.
Notwithstanding this, it is said, that on Monday last a number of the populace of that town assembled, broke into the stores, and mixed the corn of four persons who persevered in buying, in contempt of the aforesaid engagement. However we might deplore any irregularity in the populace, we must say, that a breach of faith at all times, but particularly under such circumstances, was most reprehensible. We are extremely sorry to mention, that on Tuesday the populace still continued in a most riotous state—pressing horses in every direction, and forcibly bringing into town from the surrounding country, potatoes, oatmeal, &c. &c.
—Clonmel Advertiser.

On the night of Tuesday last, a most melancholy occurrence took place at Grague, near Kilkash, county of Tipperary. Patrick Keefe, an industrious farmer, who lived at this place, was awoke on the night above stated, a short time after his family had retired to rest, and perceiving his house on fire, called to them to get up and fly with their lives! This was no time to deliberate. The devouring element had gained such ascendancy by the time the miserable proprietor had awoke, that he barely escaped with life, being grievously burned before he got out, and totally incapable of any exertion for the rescue of any individual of his family; and, with the deepest sensations of regret we must mention, that his wife, two sons, daughter, and nephew, with three servant women, perished in this dreadful conflagration.—On Wednesday a coroner's inquest was held on the bodies, by Matthew Hill, Esq. coroner, when they returned the following verdict:— “That, from the evidence of Patrick Keefe, the deceased came by their death by the house being set on fire maliciously, by people as yet unknown.”

T. Prendergast, Esq. high sheriff of the county has offered a reward of one hundred guineas, for the discovery and conviction of the persons guilty of this horrid transaction.

MARRIED.

At Kinsale, on Sunday last, Richard Orr, Esq. of Prospect, near Innishannon, to Jane, eldest daughter of Mr. M. Leahy, of Kinsale, Merchant.

DIED.

Yesterday, at his house in the Tonline Buildings, the Lady of John Mark, Esq. She must long be deplored by her family and acquaintance, as she discharged all the duties of a sincere friend, a good wife, and a tender mother, in a most exemplary manner.

This morning, suddenly, Mr. Francis Lacey, of this city, apothecary.

At Charleville, after a short illness, much lamented, Mr. Francis Kerby.

On Friday last, in the prime of life, at Ruscoe, county Tipperary, the Rev. John Hickey, Roman Catholic clergyman.
