

Kingdom of Great Britain.

IT PLEASES THE PRINCE, that in consequence of the lamented affliction of our beloved sovereign thy father, thou art the high office of administering the regal government of this country, we, his dutiful subjects, the society of friends, are desirous of presenting to thee, in which we believe the welfare of our country is deeply concerned.

How many years since war has been spreading its ravages over a great part of the civilized world; believe it is to be an evil, from which the spirit of Christ would wholly deliver the nations, we humbly petition thee to use the royal power, now placed in thy hands, to take such measures for the putting a period to this dreadful devastation, as we trust, the wisdom of thy Majesty as they seek for divine direction, will be enabled to discover.

Impressed with a grateful sense of the religious benefits we enjoy under the present government, and of this highly important cause of suffering humanity which is peculiarly near to our hearts, to thy consideration: that thus thou may'st be honoured instrument in the hand of the All-wise and All-powerful God, in promoting his gracious designs respecting the interests of the earth.

And in, by order, and on behalf of the yearly meeting of the said people, held in London, this day of the 5th month, 1812, by JOHN WILKINSON.

Clerk to the meeting this year."

Power of his Royal Highness was as follows:

deeply sensible of the calamities which necessitate a state of war. I feel, therefore, be most grateful to me to feel, serve such a change in the views and conduct as would admit of the cessation of hostilities with a just regard to the important duties which have been committed to my charge, and my indispensable duty to maintain.

et with great satisfaction on the religious secured to you by the wisdom and benevolent laws, and you may rest assured of my connection."

THE undersigned PHYSICIANS and SURGEONS, who have attended so many thousands of the Sick Poor, since the first Establishment of a Dispensary in this City, feel it incumbent on them, from a sense of the duty they owe themselves, as well as from an anxious regard for the public good, to detach themselves totally from that Institution. They however assure the Public they do not mean, by so doing, to desert the cause of humanity—their fellow creatures suffering under the combined pressure of disease and poverty. They confide in having it in their power, very shortly, to arrange and carry into effect the outlines of a plan more Comprehensive in its nature, and consequently more generally useful than a first attempt of any establishment, never improved on from experience of its defects, nor undergoing any salutary changes from increased liberality of sentiment, could possibly be.
