DUBLIN—NOVEMBER 15.

Order issued by Marquis Wellington (see the 4th page of this Chronicle) will be regretted by every lover of the British who had previously been informed of the destination our army was in, on entering committed several excesses, and upon officers, who commanded corps, received even companies, with some subalterns, their passage to England, where they decided by the Prince Regent.—It is a fact that an Regiment under Lord Wellington of good conduct to our countrymen, rather, to their credit seldom committed cruelty or force, in Portugal or Spain. That the commission of such outrages in Spain, was caused by the joy the troops felt in Napoleon's country.—The example of Lord Wellington, will serve as a lesson to every enemy's country, no act of insubordination will be permitted.—The Hussars mentioned to be in disgrace in Portugal, have an opportunity afforded them in the engagement, to retrieve their honor.—Officers have sent in their resignations, some hesitation, were accepted of. A new trial in the case of Mr. Proprietor of the Evening Post, which taken place on Saturday, is put off on account of the indisposition of Justice Dalrymple. Lieutenant has declined (in most instances) the offer of the Royal Barrack Regiment of Infantry, commanded by Sir W. Staer, the garrison duty of Dublin, in case could volunteer.
