We are concerned to state, that on the night of Monday last, eleven Prisoners, confined in the Co-goal, effected their escape, by having first ascended from their range of cells to the attic part of the building, then taking off a few of the slates, and fastening a rope to the rafters, they let themselves down thereby to the waste ground fronting the river, from whence they went off, unperceived by the soldiers in the guard-house.—The names of the fellows who have escaped, with their description, offences, &c. and the Rewards offered for their apprehension, appear in our Advertising Columns.
