

King's Bench, Dublin, has last week, 40 Mandamusses issued last term ration of this city. The case of has been also decided in his Lord- uth full costs.

At two o'clock in the afternoon, a cry was committed on Mr. William's street, Grocer—when returning city, he was stopped at the Liberty ks Well, by a single highway-man, underbuss at him, and desired him deliver," on which Mr. Evans, was him his watch, an acceptance of a n's. and what silver he had about owed Mr. E. to pass and made off the fields.

Esq. and Mr. James Murphy the county t a house in Creagh lane on Wednesday d Longhnan, who, it may be remem- f the Gaol, in company with Thomas found drowned at Tervoe a few days named Cagney—the latter has not yet

CORN LAWS.

of the Freeholders of the county of Limerick, RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH, approach the Bar of your Lordships' sense of the important subject upon which Legislature, and with an unbounded confi- m and impartiality of its deliberations.

continuance of the late war, the increased ish Market have proportionally augmented Ireland—That it appears, from the en- prepared by the Committees of your Lord- in the year antecedant to May, 1814, the ish Corn into Great Britain equalled the of all foreign supplies whatsoever—That corn during the last six years has, from the alone, exceeded two millions in value.— re apprehend the most disastrous conse- is extensive and important trade be at once ne competition of foreign growers who are ghtness of their taxation, to undersell Peti- ie market.

of the population in the County of Limerick tivators of land—That Petitioners deprecate any system, calculated to throw this im- en out of employment—That such a change ve unlikely to occur without the most dan- ges to the State. The rapid progress of Irish be measured by the advance of Irish agri- ers fear that their retrogression may be pro- decay.

's demand no selfish advantages; they desire ection, for they esteem the interests of Great eland, as essentially and inseparably the lvidual acre of land brought into cultivation rded a new market for the manufactures of our Petitioners are warranted in blending rish improvement with their wishes for y.

is regret the depreciation of all agricultural ly as it affects themselves and their country, ultimately involve the safety of the British itioners apprehend, that, the reward of the e nation has triumphed, may be forfeited ne dependant upon foreign countries for her mibly entreat, that your Lordships may take or the protection of the Agricultural interests s to your Lordships' wisdom may seem most Petitioners will ever pray.

an interview took place in London, between pool and a number of Members of the House the subject of the Corn Laws, when a long discussion took place. It was agreed to on bill for the protection of the agricultural antry was rendered indispensable, on the prin- cipal, skill, and industry employed in every trade, were protected against the importation manufactures at a rate to everwhelm and an- ve dealer, so ought they to be when applied on of corn. At the same time, it was agreed most material of all articles, the rate of impor- e such as to keep the price of bread corn at if possible, at an equal price. It was still

THE IRISH COURT.]

On Thursday evening last, her Grace the Duchess of Dorset held her first drawing room for the season. The crowd of Nobility and Fashionables which attended upon the occasion was almost unprecedented. A double, and frequently a treble line of carriages, occupied all the streets leading to Grafton Street and Carlisle Bridge; and although the company began to assemble at an early hour, yet so great was the pressure, that several carriages were obliged to return, some not being able to get near the Castle. Upwards of seven hundred persons were present. The affability and condescension of her Grace, were extremely gratifying. Amongst others, Miss Edgeworth was honored by the particular attention of her Grace, who, in a very elegant and appropriate compliment, expressed her satisfaction at seeing this admirable novelist at the Irish Court. The party that made up her Graces Card Table, were, Lady Jane Loftus, the Earls of Fingal and Longford, and Admiral Pakenham. His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant's party were, the Countess of Fingal, Isabella Viscountess Powerscourt, Lady Aylmer, and Lord Farnham.

After the company had left the card tables, his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant and her Grace returned to the Presence Chamber, in order to afford an opportunity to upwards of thirty persons of being presented: who found it impossible to reach the Castle at the early part of the day.

The company were not able entirely to leave the Castle until three o'clock on Friday morning.

New Pier and Harbour near Dunleary.

It is with a feeling of sincere pleasure we have to announce to the merchants, and others, concerned in the trade of Dublin, that the object of their wishes is effected. The government, after ample investigation of the merits and necessity of the measure, are resolved to act on the petitions prepared last year, for the building a Pier near Dunleary, for the protection of shipping frequenting this harbour; and the bill already sanctioned by the opinion of the Attorney General, is about to be immediately enacted.

We have to remark a singular principle of economy evident in the management of this undertaking; though the work is designed on a scale of the utmost grandeur, adequate to the accomodation of vessels of the largest draught that can lie in the bay; yet, by the principle to which we allude, the means provided will be strictly limited to the work itself, so that the public will have the satisfaction of seeing it completed at the least possible expense, and, consequently, within the shortest time. A committee appointed, of the most respect- able and independent member of the mercantile body, acting without salary, fee, or reward, save the consciousness of promoting the public good, will carry into effect the purpose of the petitioners.

It is, peculiarly to the Right Hon. Wm. Fitzgerald, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, that this most beneficial accom- plishment is to be attributed; his clear and patriotic observa- tion saw the full force and value of the design; and to his eternal honor be it said, he gave it his immediate and decided approbation and support. Under such vigilance and efficiency in the management of Irish affairs, our favourite Chancellor of the Exchequer will ever carry with him the thanks and grati- tude of the nation, for his prompt attention to their concerns; not only in securing a parsimonious expenditure of money heretofore granted for public purposes, but extending the same economical intention to any monies hereafter to be appro- priated to similar purposes.—Correspondent.

Death of his Grace the Duke of Dorset.

FROM THE DUBLIN CORRESPONDENT, WEDNESDAY.

We have not had the pain of recording a more melancholy occurrence than that above designated. A moment almost has deprived society of one of its valuable members—Ireland of a warm and attached friend, and an illustrious parent of an only Son, endeared to her by every tie that could give strength to affection. The Duchess of Dorset's distress and sorrow present a subject for sympathy and pity, which it would be al- most an offence to dwell upon, so greatly must they exceed all that can be conceived of them.

The circumstances which have attended this very sad cala- mity, and snatched, just in the opening of manhood, a dis- tinguished young nobleman from the stage of life, are very nearly as follow:—The Duke of Dorset had been since Monday, on a visit to Lord Powerscourt, and yesterday joined a hunting party in the vicinity of Killiney. His Grace was an adventurous horseman, and entered warmly into the spirit of the chace towards its close, and when his horse was a good deal fatigued by the ardour with which he had been urged forward, his Grace leaped a small stone wall, at the opposite side of which, loose stones had been collected. The horse effected the leap, but fell among the stones, on which he necessarily lighted, and his rider was consequently thrown off. His

DIED,

At Madras, on the 6th of August last, in the prime of life, John Wallace, Esq. son of the late Robert Wallace, Esq. of this City.—At an early age he went to India, with the ap- pointment of Writer to the Honorable East India Company, where his abilities and integrity procured him situations of the highest trust and emolument; and was latterly appointed to the honorable station of Second Seat at the Board of Revenue.—His death is a source of the deepest regret to his family and friends.

Yesterday morning, in Mary street, Mrs Creagh, relict of the late Andrew Creagh, Esq. of this city, M. D.—a lady whose many amiable and benevolent qualities endeared her to her relatives and acquaintance, by whom her death is sincerely lamented.

This morning, in Patrick street, the Rev John Thayer, a Roman Catholic Clergyman, remarkable for his piety and charity.

In Dublin, on Monday last, Mrs Denny, wife of Maynard Denny, Esq. of Tralee.

At Bath, on the 3d instant, Lady Anne Talbot, sister to the Earl of Glandore, of Ardferret Abbey, county Kerry.

On Sunday last, in Merrion Square, Dublin, Mrs. Forde, aged 91 years.

At his seat, Fahy, near Aughrim, county Galway, John Davies, Esq.

At Ardnagashall, county Cork, Miss Hutchins, daughter of the late Thomas Hutchins, Esq.

In Shannon street, Mr. Bell, of this city, Upholsterer.

Sunday last, at Corofin, county Clare, at an advanced age, Mr. Patrick Tally, many years Revenue Officer in that town.

Thursday last, in Eunis, of a decline, Mr. Wm. Browne, Revenue Officer.

EXPORTS.

Janet, for Liverpool—346 barrels wheat, 767 brls. oats, James and Samuel Phelps

Ashling, for Poole—270 brls. pork, Harvey, Fisher, and Harvey.

Fawcett, for Liverpool,—579 barrels wheat, 1438 barrels oats, M. Honan—320 barrels wheat, John and Wm. Hill.

Betsey, for Greenock—700 barrels oats, 100 firkins butter, 51 barrels pork, 42 dozen calf skins, David Stevenson—67 bags flour, J. Bannatyne.

COMMITTED,

By Charles D Oliver, Esq. to the County Jail, John Bourke, Wm. Torpey, and Daniel Reardon, charged with burglariously breaking open the house of Thos. Dillane, of Ardpatrick and at emp ing to burn it.

By Alderman Wilkinson, Thomas Shaughnessy, charged with stealing sundry articles, the property of Richard Barry.

LIMERICK MARKET PRICES.

	S. D.	S. D.
Wheat,	1 5½ to 1 7½	} POUNDS
Oats,	0 7 to 0 7½
Barley,	0 8 to 10 0
Pork, per cwt. .. .	28 6 to 0 0

TO ARCHITECTS. 230

THE GOVERNORS of the COUNTY INFIRMARY, are ready to receive Proposals for an alteration to be made in the present Building, accompanied by a plan thereof.—Information will be given of the particulars, by Applying to JOHN SANDS, Apothecary at the Infirmary, where sealed proposals are to be left on or before the 23d inst.

HARVEY, FISHER AND HARVEY,

17th of 2d mo. 1815. Treasurers.

W. B. TRAVERS, APOTHECARY.

TAKES leave to inform the Nobility, Gen- try, and Public of Limerick and its vicin- ity, that he has commenced the APOTHE- CARY BUSINESS, at No. 18, Rutland- Street, (next door to the Office of John Gabbett, Esq. and opposite to that of 'The General Advertiser,') where he has received a very extensive Supply of the Best DRUGS and CHYMICALS, the Dublin Houses could pro- duce; among which are Cheltenham, Rochelle, and Epsom Salts, Peruvian Bark, Huxham's