The Commander in Chief observes by the returns of the army, that considerable irregularities exist as to the employment of soldiers, by officers, in the capacity of Servants.—His Royal Highness, therefore, deems it necessary to issue the following General Order on this subject, and all officers are hereby warned, that any deviation from it, which may hereafter occur, will be considered a very serious breach of discipline; and most particularly in the instance of an officer in the command of a regiment or military depot, by whom such deviation may be tolerated.

Without special permission, none but regimental officers are to employ soldiers as servants. The number of soldiers employed as officers servants is to be hereafter specified in the regimental monthly returns, and such men are not, as heretofore, to be included under the head. "On Furlough," nor are any furloughs to be granted to soldiers with a view to their being employed as servants.

Officers employed on the staff of depots and general hospitals, or on the recruiting staff, and half pay officers on the general staff of the army, will be allowed the indulgence of one soldier each to attend them, who will be furnished, either from the garrison companies formed for that purpose, or from one of the royal veteran battalions, on their application to the Adjutant General.

Two soldiers of the above description will be allowed to the commandant and the Lieutenant Colonel of Albany Barracks, to the commandant of the cavalry depot at Maidstone, and to the commandant general of hospitals

His Royal Highness hereby most positively forbids that any other soldier shall be employed, under any pretence whatever, as a servant by any officer, civil or military, connected with the general staff of the army, or the staff of the recruiting service, with the staff of Albany barracks, or any other place of rendezvous, or with the general hospitals. The commandants at these various stations, are personally responsible that the most implicit obedience is paid to the letter and spirit of this order.

By Command of his Royal Highness the Commander in Chief,
HARRY CALVERT, Adj. Gen.

Saturday last, three soldiers of the North Mayo Militia, employed in the excise duty, under a Revenue Officer were unfortunately drowned at Loughreany, County Clare—They had gone to an Island on the Lake to make a seizure of an illicit distillery, in which they succeeded—but on their return, the boat upset.—The Revenue Officer and five soldiers composed the party in the boat, two of whom, with the Officer, swam to the shore, but the remaining three melancholy to relate, sunk to rise no more.

An extraordinary Sessions of the peace for this County, is to be held this day at the County Court House, to take into consideration the present disturbed state of the County.

Friday, in consequence of the requisition to the Clerk of the Peace of the Co Tipperary, and of that gentleman's summons to the magistrates, there was a very numerous and highly respectable meeting of the magistracy at Cashel, to the number of two and forty; when it was unanimously resolved to memorial his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant to place under the provisions of the statute of the 54th of the King, commonly called "the Insurrection Act," the Barones of Kilmannagh, Eliogarty, Clanwilliam, Middlethird, Slievadagh and Compsay, and Iffa and Offa East. The High Sheriff was called to the chair.

In co-operation with the energy and determination of the magistracy and gentry (and this energy and determination, we are happy to say seem thoroughly and unanimously to be aroused,) government has proceeded to carry into effect that extensive military disposition of which we have more than once forewarned the country, and which will effectually coerce the temper of insubordination. Lieutenant General Meurick arrived at Clonmel on Thursday, to arrange the disposition of the troops, &c. and the commissariat and quarter master generals departments are busy in making the most extensive arrangements for an additional force of at least 10,000 troops; and more will be sent if necessary

Friday, in the middle of the noon day, when Mr. Lawless, collector of taxes, with his assistant, Mr. Green and two constables (all armed) went to the townland of Ballygarry, county Tipperary, to collect taxes, after having demanded payment at different houses. (notwithstanding an indulgence given them for many months) the collector was obliged to resort to the measure (as is usual in such cases) of taking pledges which were given up to one of the constables, and on their return were assailed on the lands of Knocka, between Caher and Woodroff by a vast concourse of country people who fired several shots at the collector and his assistants, and which they were obliged to return in their own defence, and put the ruffians to flight, wounding one man in the pursuit, who now lies dangerously ill. Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Lawless, and his small party, for the gallant resistance they made, no man could be more indulgent than he has been.

Lord Caher, who was just on his way to attend the meeting of magistrates at Cashel, with his usual activity as a magistrate repaired to the spot aided by a military party, in pursuit of this deluded banditti, and scoured the country for several miles but without effect.
