

conseleap He has been promised many more arms, and already obtained some since his visit.

His parish, Durrow, has become so completely tranquil—thanks to his unwearied exertions—that many calculate on the speedy removal of the Insurrection Act therefrom, well to reward the people therefor giving up their delusive hopes, as to shew other parishes the consequence of a return to peaceable habits—a restoration to the full blessings of the British Constitution.

The Postmasters-General have offered a reward of fifty pounds for the apprehension of the fellow who robbed the Bay conveying the Athbay, Trim, and Summerhill mails for Dublin, at Kilcock, on the night of the 28th ult. in consequence of the new Day Mail Coach about to run between Dublin and Belfast, travellers or letters or correspondents, will reach Dublin before the English and other Mails are dispatched, and passengers, letters, &c. reach Edinburgh, in about 36 hours.—advantages of a mail are highly important.

The Deputy Clerk of the Crown in Ireland, James Schier, Esq. has issued notice from the Hanaper Office in London, that the Writs for the election of three temporal Peers of Ireland, to succeed to the vacancies made in the Peerage of the Irish Peerage, in consequence of the death of Baron Callan, Earl of Glandore, and Earl of Glouch, will be ready for delivery to the several Lords entitled to vote, on the 9th instant. Tuesday next.

On Sunday last, Mr. James Ball, son of Mr. Ball, of the General Post Office, had a most providential escape of death. About three o'clock he entered his room, at his house, Spring Garden, Ballybough, for the purpose of writing. He stood at the window for a few minutes, and then sat down to write. He had scarcely reached the room door, when he heard a report of fire-arms. On his return, he was surprised to find a round hole in the centre pane of the window, exactly where he was in the habit of placing his writing glass. On examination, a ball had entered the window, four inches opposite the window, seven feet from the wall, and through the glass precisely where he had been sitting. where, if he had remained for two seconds the bullet must have passed through his head. Within these three days, repeated attempts have been made to injure Mr. Ball's family, by throwing stones through the windows of his house. Mr. B. cannot, by any means, account for such attempts, other than being an officer of yeomen, and active in endeavouring to preserve the peace.—Correspondent.

Extract of a Letter from Dungarvan.

On the night of the 29th December, a party of fellows, in the amount of fifteen, some of them armed with long pistols, and some with bayonets, forcibly entered the house of Michael Kelly, of Moat, in the Parish of Ring. After breaking up the house, they robbed the house of seven pounds worth of articles, and of some wearing apparel, having remained several hours, eating and drinking, and searching for prietors, but, fortunately, without effect, as he had his escape through a back window on the first entrance. Expressions which fell from them have led to the conjecture that his being found by them would have been fatal. They then proceeded to the house of Mathias Kelly, tenant to Mr. J. W. Anthony, on Knockanpore, in the same neighbourhood with Mulcahy, forced in his house with a sledge, and robbed him of a variety of articles, including apparel and of fish to a large amount. Many instances of an inferior nature will appear hereafter." Above letter was dated the 30th ult. We have seen a similar letter from the County of Tipperary, of the same date, mentioning the following outrage:—

On the night of Thursday, Mr. Blackmore's house, at Dungarvan, was entered by a banditti, who robbed it of money, and a watch; and yesterday, three high-robbers robbed a Gentleman at the back of Mr. Palliser's house. We have heard it mentioned, that Mr. Blackmore's house is bed of five or six stand of arms of a quantity of value, and of from £120 to £140 in money. The number counted to five or six in number.

Accounts from Rome, are of the 2d. Dec. and are satisfactory as the preceding. Cardinal Litta was to depart on the 4th, to proceed to Milan, to meet the Emperor of Austria; and therefore, the proceedings in the Congregation respecting the Irish Catholic affairs are suspended. Cardinal Consalvi staedt, that the Pope is not giving any answer until it shall be known, what the Parliament will completely emancipate the Catholics at the next Sessions. His Eminence observed, that the Emperor's offer from Genoa was conditional, and by no means binding.—Dublin Chronicle.

The fall in the productions of agriculture is in a material degree, imputable to the declining credit of the English Provincial Banks, at which the great farmers could, until last year, readily raise money, or rather country bank bills, which then answered the same purpose, for their own paper, and were thus enabled to withhold the produce of their lands from market.

On the 15th ult. in Laurens District, South Carolina, Mr. Solomon Niblet, aged one hundred and forty three years. He was born in England, where he lived until he was 19 years old; he then emigrated to America, and resided in the State of Maryland until about 55 years ago; he then removed to South Carolina, where he resided until his death. He never lost his teeth or eye sight. A few days before his death he joined a hunting-party, went out, and actually killed a deer.—Lately, in Cambridge (New York), Solomon Cronk, of a wound in the hand by the cut of a scythe, which occasioned mortification. What is most singular in the life of the deceased was the fact, that he married two sisters, which each of whom he lived alternately, a week at a time, during the whole period of his connubial connection, and by each of whom he had 13 children. The two females, whose houses were not very distant from each other, maintained the utmost harmony and affection between them, and were all present (two wives and 26 children) at the funeral of their common husband and parent, whom they followed in mournful procession to the grave.

Possessed of great Accomplishments, and is of his age

THE SHORTEST PERSON IN THE WORLD,

Allowed by all who have seen him to be one of the greatest Curiosities now in Existence,

HE CHALLENGES THE WHOLE WORLD,

For One Thousand Guineas,

To produce any other Person equal to him,

Either in Person or Performance.

THE beauty, sensibility, performances and activity of his Youth, are not only astonishing, but they give pleasure and delight to every beholder, who retires with wonder and amazement. When he stands upright upon his feet he can touch the floor with his fingers, and can sit on the floor in a different manner from any other person. He can walk down a pair of stairs on his hands upwards, as fast as any other person can on their feet. He will take a pin out of the wall with his mouth, standing on one hand, and his feet upwards, higher by twenty inches than any other person that can be produced. He will stand on his hands on the top of a chair back and jump off, and alight on his hands, walking off on them in a surprising manner. He will throw a pin on the floor, and take it up with one hand, standing on the other, put in his mouth and walk away with the same. He will lay himself down on the floor, and by the strength of his arms raise himself up feet foremost, and walk away on his hands. He will also walk in an horizontal position on his hands under a table, without touching the table on the floor with his feet. He will likewise, when standing on a chair, throw it backwards, alight on his hands; and in that posture walk away. It is indeed unknown, whether he can best walk on his hands or his feet, he has a particular and surprising way of running totally different from any other person; with various other performances still more difficult than any yet mentioned.

This young Man is not exhibited because he is little, but on account of his performing these wonderful exploits.

Doors open at 11—to begin at 12 and performance every hour until 8 in the Evening, Front Seats 1s 8d.—Bark Seats 10d.

Ladies and Gentlemen may have an Exhibition at their own Houses at a short notice.
