

could any body suppose, that his being my near relative would warp his opinion, or bias his verdict—No, no, was re-ounded, from all quarters.—The Quo Warranto Cases, I have undertaken in my own name; I have done so because I have identified myself with your cause—to it I will cling. Out of 52 cases, 51 have struck; Mr. Edward O'Grady being the only person who attempted resistance. But, Gentlemen, one of the most material of our labours had been to deprive our Opponents of the means of fighting us with our own money—A Bill has also been filed in which I am also the relator, and after considerable argument and long deliberation, the Master of the Rolls decided for us. One would think, this would have induced my Lord Gore to have acceded to the opinion of the Court, but he thought otherwise; and now we find his Lordship appealing to the Chancellor. Here, too, I pledge myself to you, he will find that the Funds originally vested in the Corporation, as a Charity to relieve the burdens of the Citizens, must be so applied, and not otherwise. But, Gentlemen, one happy result has already proved the advantage of this Bill—it has reduced our taxes—to shew you its utility let me state to you the different items of the last 4 years.

	£.	S.	D.
In 1813 the taxes on the liberties were	2667	3	6
1814	2806	0	2
1815	2707	18	6
1816	1195	6	10

And of these eleven hundred and ninety five pounds a considerable sum was incurred by the operation of the insurrection act. I have delayed you too long; but, my object has been to satisfy you of what has been done, and also to direct your attention to what we have to do. I cannot dwell too much in impressing on your minds the necessity there is on all hands to pull together, and there can be no doubt of speedy and complete success—as for myself I only ambition to be your fellow labourer, and to share in common with my fellow citizens, the enjoyment of those rights, so long and so shamefully withheld—(Hear, hear.)—Mr. Tuthill sat down amidst the general acclamations of the meeting.

Mr. Tuthill then proposed the following resolutions—
 "That we congratulate our fellow citizens upon the favourable prospects which the cause of independence presents to our view.

"That we exhort them to continue those exertions which have been honorably made, and which cannot fail of being gloriously rewarded.

"That the consideration of the question for which the present meeting has been called be adjourned to the 14th of May, as we feel conscious, that no step which involves the interest of our cause should be taken without further consideration."

The resolutions being seconded by Sir John De Bourgo, passed unanimously.

Mr. Boyse next moved the thanks of the meeting to Mr. Tuthill for his steady, upright, and persevering exertions in the cause of independence and that he be requested to continue the same. Thomas Rice, Esq. of Mount Trenchard, seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Mr. Tuthill then addressed the meeting, and said he was glad that he had received this mark of their approbation, it was to him a kind proof that, in their estimation, he had acquitted to deserve it. He would cheerfully undertake the duty imposed on him; they would again and always be with him at his post.

Mr. Rice was then called to the Chair, when thanks were offered to Lord Viscount Glenworth for his very proper dignified conduct in the chair, and for his Lordship's attachment to the cause of independence.

Mr. Rice, in conveying to his Lordship the sense of the meeting said he was happy to be the organ of so respectable a body in offering a just, and to him a gratifying tribute to his Lordship's undeviating firmness and ardent attachment to the cause and interests of his fellow citizens. Here the proceedings of the day ended.

On Friday, Alderman Bloxham was elected Mayor, and Messrs Read and Dickson, Sheriffs of Dublin for the year 1816.

We understand from good authority, that the place of Judge of the Prerogative and Consistorial Court, vacant by the death of Dr. Duigenan, has not yet been disposed of.

We understand that the remains of the Right Hon. Patrick Gordon will be removed, for the purpose of interment, to his house in Henrietta street, (where it now lies in state.) on Friday next. The funeral procession will proceed at half ten o'clock precisely. It is expected that his friends will pay their last testimony of esteem for his memory and character, by attending on this occasion.—Correspondent.

A considerable number of old English coins, some of them bearing the 1, King of England, who reigned towards the end of the 8th century, have been discovered in a field near the Abbey of Lindores, near Newburgh, in Scotland, and were found in the cavity of a triangular shaped stone.

Committed to Ennis Gaol, by Bindon Scott, Esq. Denis Moran, charged with conspiring to murder Mr. William Galway, agent to Wm. Coppinger, Esq.—By Gen. Bouchier Patrick Bennett, charged with cutting with a sharp instrument, Patrick Flanus, whose life is in imminent danger.—By Francis Lloyd, Esq. William and John Boland, charged with highway robbery.

A few nights since, a party of armed men came to the house of the Rev. Mr. Averill, at Mothill, Co. Waterford, demanding arms, but their real object was to obtain money. Being disappointed in this design, they robbed Mr. Averill of his watch and seal, and of many other articles. They offered no personal violence and, on their departure, took with them a horse, saddle and bridle, of which, notwithstanding the most diligent search, no information had been obtained when the last accounts reached us. It is exceedingly remarkable, that, in the course of as many years, Mr. Averill has been seven times robbed! We understand, that scarcely a Saturday night passes without depredations being committed between Mothill and Carrick on Suir, and we do not hear, that any exertions have been made for suppressing them.

The robbery committed at John's Hill must excite the greatest indignation. Mr. Paul's demesne and improvements are open for the public, and the cottage which was broken into was fitted up for their convenience and amusement. The Poor in his neighbourhood continually experience the benefit of his liberal attention to their distresses, and also of his advice to all their difficulties. His property, therefore, ought to be regarded as peculiarly sacred. Whence the robbers came, is not known, but it is to be hoped, that the reward which is offered will very speedily lead to their punishment.
