JUVENILE PARTY.

By the following from the Statesman of Saturday, Nicholas Harris, of Retruth, near Exeter, on Thursday invited five juvenile friends to celebrate the 80th his natal day; whose united ages amounted to four and eighty seven years, viz. Charles Terrill, Robert Falkner, aged 81; Edward Nicoll, aged Thomas Thomas, aged 80. One of the party of who is clerk and undertaker of the parish, being on for a toast, gave, "May you all live 100 years, to bury you all!"

MURDER AND ROBBERY.

TRATH STREET, DUBLIN, OCTOBER 23.—On night last, informations were sent to this a robbery having been committed that night house of Michael Heffernan, publican and Cloghran, near Mulhuddart, by a gang of to the number of eight or nine, who forced house, and robbed it of a considerable of bank notes. The moment they entered, several shots which awoke Heffernan, who in adjoining room, on which he got up and aded blunderbuss across the partition which between the rooms; he must have dreadfully one of the ruffians, as a great quantity of s found, breast high, on different parts of against which the man is supposed to have Immediately afterwards, one of the villains hind the bar, and having taken deliberate Heffernan, fired, and shot him; the ball took n through his body, and passed through his The fellows having taken the money which s wife handed to them, in the first instance a while, but returned shortly afterwards, several shots at the doors and windows—it they would have done more mischief on ra, but that they were not aware of Heffernan indeed, and supposed him to be prepared for attack.

afternoon a shocking accident happened in arket London. Of the houses which were to own to form the new street, only two were ng. Both adjoined the Opera House.— nearest the ruins suddenly fell, about a fore four o'clock, with a tremendous crash, with it the party wall. The house being he dust which arose from the ruins filled part of the Haymarket and Cockspur street, ng the shops and houses, proved for some annoying to the inhabitants. Two gentle-were walking on the foot path, very narped being buried in the ruins. The house, l been unoccupied some time, was formerly by a perfumer and hairdresser, and the basket maker. A poor woman, who got her grafting silk stockings, had been permitted the house till it suited the workmen to pulling it down. Shortly after the accident to some of the neighbours, that the poor d been then buried in the ruins of the house gestion being quickly circulated, the worke new buildings with an alacrity and zeal fitable to their humanity, hastened to the eat numbers, and immediately commenced eir way through the ruins to the parlour, hind the shop, where they not only found men, but two other women, and a girl about of age, buried in the rubbish; and most lly, the wainscoat of the room under which ound, falling on a slant and lodging on the de of the room, they were preserved alive, led and bruised, and in terrible alarm, all extricated, though not without much It is thought, that had they not been resculy, they must have been suffocated. No the old woman safe, than she became xious to recover her silk stockings, and a pigs, which to her great joy the workmen t out. At the time of the accident it ap-the old woman was drinking tea with two aintances; and the third sufferer, accom-be little girl, had come to inquire after ings which had been left to be grafted, with the execution of several historical pictures' Among the subjects is mentioned the famous Oath of the Hungarians to Maria Theresa. The others are drawn from the History of England.

It is not true, that the Queen of Wirtemberg will come to England before winter: the journey will, it is supposed, be postponed till spring.

Among the presents offered by the city of Amsterdam to the Princess Royal of the Low Countries is a lace gown, valued at 225,000 fr.

Mr. Horner set out on Sunday, for the Continent. We lament to learn that he has been advised to pass the winter in Italy, for the benefit of his health.

Sir Henry and Lady Georgina Wellesley and suite left Salisbury house, Arlington street, London, on Monday afternoon, for Paris, where they will reside a short time, and then proceed to Spain.

John G. Lambton, Esq. member for Durham, is about to lead to the Hymeneal altar the beautiful and accomplished Lady Louisa Grey.

It is definitively settled, we understand, on good authority, that the Duke of Kent will shortly lead a Continental Princess to the Hymeneal altar.

MARRIAGE IN HIGH LIFE—On Monday week, was married by Special license, at St. James's Church, London, by the Hon. and Rev. Thomas Monson, the Right Hon. the Earl of Brooke and of Warwick, to the Right Hon. Lady Monson. The bride was attended at church by the relatives of the joint families, and was given away by her father, the Earl of Mexborough, who afterwards had a magnificent breakfast at his house in Picadilly, which was honoured by the presence of his Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence, together with the Earl and Countess of Hardwicke, Earl & Countess of Essex, the Dowager Countess of Mexborough, Ashbrook, the Ladies Greville, General Sir Charles Greville, K. B. Lord Grantham, the Dowager Lady Monson, the Misses Monson, Mr. and Mrs. Arbuthnot, the Hon. Mr.
Saville &c.—At two o'clock the bride was handed to the carriage by his Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence, when the Earl and Countess of Warwick left town for the seat of the Earl of Ossory, on their way to Warwick Castle. His Royal Highness the Prince Regent had signified his intention of honouring the bridal party with his presence at breakfast but was prevented by urgent business.

O'Grady, Esq. He was a good husband and an affectionate father, and during a long life was respected and esteemed by all who had the pleasure of knowing him.—At his house in St. James's Square, Earl Beauchamp. His Lordship went to bed last Sunday night week, in apparent perfect health, after enjoying the society of a few particular friends at dinner.
About three o'clock Lady Beauchamp was awoke by a groan from her Lord by her side in bed. She was greatly alarmed, called up her servants, sent for medical assistance, &c. but it was found to be too late, his Lordship having expired in a fit of apoplexy. His Lordship was born the 25th of July 1747, and married ———, only daughter of James Denn, Esq. and has left issue—first, William Beauchamp, Viscount Elmley, now Earl Beauchamp; who has succeeded to his titles and estates; second, John Reginald, married to Charlotte Scott, only daughter of the late Earl of Clonmel; two other sons and three daughters. His titles are, Earl Beauchamp, Viscount Elmley, of the county of Worcester, and Baron Beauchamp, of Powke, in the county of Worcester.—On Saturday, at Latchgrove, after a short illness, of a cancer in his mouth, Thomas Prendergast, Esq. Major in the Tipperary Regiment, and late High Sheriff of that county.—Suddenly at Cheltenham, James King, Esq. the respectable Master of the Ceremonies of that place and at Bath.—In Bandon, Mr.
George Wheeler.—On Wednesday, night in Georges street,
