

ney coach, accompanied by Mr. John Platt (his brother and partner in the Manchester business, 39, Casleton-street), and a surgeon and carried home to his house on Brixton Wash, where he was put to bed. He is attended by Mr. Astley Cooper.

The unfortunate gentleman married the daughter of Mr. Beckwith, a hosier, residing next door to Mr. Beckwith. He was accidentally in the shop looking at a gun, when the fellow who shot him came into the room and demanded fire-arms. On this daring request being made, Mr. Platt, with others in the shop, desired him to walk out, and Mr. Platt put his hand to his shoulder and pointed to the street. The villain instantly produced a pistol from under his coat and discharged it.

The assassin alone was in the shop when the pistol was fired, and he was conveyed up stairs and searched. On him were found three one pound notes, a pocket-book, and some memorandums, which will no doubt bring the ruffian to justice.—He was rescued from a city constable by the mob.

This day, a little after twelve o'clock, very heavy rain fell in this city, accompanied by tremendous peals of thunder and lightning.

In the 87th foot Ensign O'Grady is promoted Lieutenant and H. V. Lloyd gent is appointed Ensign, vice O'Grady—and Lieut. Roger Sheehy of the 89th is promoted Captain of a company, vice Nunn.

To prevent the hoarding up or forestalling of corn, grain, meal, or flour, the following abstract of an act of parliament, passed in the 30th of his present majesty, chap. 30. should be made as public as possible, in order that the magistrates might be acquainted with the power with which the law, in this highly important case, invests them:—

“Every miller, factor, merchant, clerk, agent, or other person, who shall neglect or refuse to deliver, within twenty four hours after demand, or on the morning of every Saturday, without demand an account in writing, signed by him or her, to the Chief Magistrate, or person acting in his behalf, of the quantity of corn, grain, meal, or flour, which he or she, or any person in trust for him or her, shall have received during the seven days immediately preceding, with the costs thereof, respectively, whether the same shall have been bought in the public market or otherwise, or whether bought upon commission, or otherwise; shall for every such offence, forfeit the sum of fifty pounds sterling. And it is hereby also further enacted, that every such person aforesaid shall, before making such return as aforesaid, take, and subscribe before the said magistrate, as aforesaid, an oath, as in said act is set forth, verifying the truth of all such returns as aforesaid, to be by him or her made as aforesaid. And that if any person aforesaid, shall purchase or receive any quantity of corn, grain, meal or flour, as aforesaid, without having first taken and subscribed the aforesaid oath, in manner and form as in said recited act set forth; every person so offending, shall, for every such offence, forfeit the sum of ten pounds sterling.”

UNSOOUND CORN.—It will be gratifying to the public to learn, that the bad effects occasioned by eating bread made from unripe corn can be prevented by a very simple and very salutary process. This subject has had the consideration of some of the most eminent of the faculty. The first hint as to the utility of soda originated with a medical gentleman in Dublin, who was requested to prescribe for a family perpetually disordered in the bowels by bread made of unwholesome flour, and which prescription proved effectual. Half an ounce of soda dissolved in water, and mixed with the flour, is sufficient for each quarter loaf; it will correct any sourness in the bread, and render it light and wholesome.—Let any person make the trial, one loaf with soda, and another without it: no other proof will be necessary. It would be a great benefit to the community if the public bakers would adopt the use of it; particularly where that pernicious custom is practised of using alum, as it would counteract the bad effects of it.

TO IMPROVE BREAD MADE OF UNSOUND FLOUR.—When the dough is risen, instead of using flour to make it up for the oven, work into it a small quantity of good oat meal, and bake it into cakes about three inches thick.

BREAD FROM TURNIPS.—The following receipt for making bread from turnips is taken from the Edinburgh Encyclopedia:—

“Let the turnips be washed clean pared and boiled.—When they are soft enough for being mashed, the greater part of the water should be pressed out of them, and they should then be mixed with an equal quantity in weight, of coarse

It is reported, and believed, (says the Globe), that in the ensuing Meeting of Parliament a bill will be passed for the continued importation of foreign wheat, subject to a duty of 10s. per quarter; and that the free exportation also of wheat, the growth of the United Kingdom, will be allowed, with a bounty of the same amount.

We regret to state, that three privates of the 28th Regt belonging to party called out on revenue duty last week, were lost in the lake, in consequence of the cot upsetting on their passage from the main land to Row Island, where a seizure had been made. It appears there were four men on board when the accident happened, one of whom, a corporal, being an expert swimmer saved his life, but the other three were drowned.—Erin Packet.

CORK DEC. 6.—On Wednesday night and yesterday we had a great storm of wind, and a heavy fall of rain—many Chimnies were blown down, and other injury done to the houses—the roofs of some were greatly damaged—the Wind was South West, and then veered to the South, which makes us apprehensive that we shall have some unpleasant accounts from the coast. This day, the weather is mild. The wind shifted last night to N. W. and is now fixed W.

Last night the mail coach from Dublin, broke down, between Fermoy and this city; we understand that no person suffered any injury except one of the guards who was slightly bruised.

DUBLIN CORN MARKET.—The market yesterday was very well supplied, and sales commenced briskly at last day's prices, but towards the close, the demand became dull, and prices declined, particularly for Oats. The quality of Wheat was so various, that it was sold at from twenty five shillings to seventy five shillings. A very superior kind was, however, bought at the last quotation. Good Oats went off from twenty two shillings and twenty two shillings nine pence, to twenty shillings and eighteen shillings. Fine old samples brought from twenty six to twenty eight shillings.—Barley, according to quality, from twenty six to thirty four shillings. Oatmeal from twenty five to twenty six shillings. Malt from forty two to fifty shillings. Very little Grain was purchased for distillation.

NOTICE.

ILLICIT DISTILLATION.

THE Commissioners of Inland Excise and Taxes hereby give Notice, that all Fines for Illicit Distillation, imposed previous to last Summer Assizes, are to be suspended, with this condition, that in case of any detection in a Town land, which would subject it to a Fine, under the Acts of Suppressing Illicit Distillation, having been made since such Assizes; or being made in future, a single Fine, together with a sum not exceeding one fourth of the arrear outstanding, shall be with all possible promptitude levied, and the usual proceedings taken for imposing a new Fine, for the offence so detected; such levy, however, not to be made without the express orders of the Board, who will abstain from enforcing the same or any part thereof, should the circumstances of the case, and the general conduct of the Townland appear to them
