In our last, we had to notice the liberality of Messrs. Stein, Brown & Co. in their benevolent donation of Twenty Guineas, handed to the Treasurer of the House of Industry-The Governors of the Fever Hospital, and the Treasurer to the Society for the Relief of the Siek and Indigent Poor, now acknowledge the receipt of Twenty Guiness for each charity, exclusive of their annual subscription. - Never was munificence, such as this more timely, or better employed, than in support of those three Institutions, to the funds of which they have so liberally contributed .- The commendation which we can bestow, is too small for benevolence so exalted, so humane -but the reflection of having snatched a perishing fellowcreature from want, sickness and death, leaves a sensation more grateful to the heart, than all the praise that language can express. It is too refined, too exquisite, to be described-it must be felt to be conceived -To the rich we hold up this bright example, worthy their imitation .- In the enjoyment of the comforts and luxuries which wealth procures, let them not forget the distresses-the necessities of others-a trifling sum-almost unmissed-from a few, would, condensed, form a large one, and save many from the pinchings of poverty .-The Governors at all times, thankfully receive every dona, tion however small -Those who "choose to do good by a raish" need not be prevented, by the apprehension of having it published, should they wish otherwise .- Could we attain one object, we need say no more on this subject-d d they but behold these abodes of wretchedness-the call of humanity would not be disregarded, not would this appeal be made in Drogheda, March 8 - The assizes of this town commenced this morning. The Hon. Justice Osborne presided in the Crown Court. The learned Judge then addressed them in a few words, on the subject of such bills as came before them, and the examination of witnesses, agreeably to the late act, and pointed out their duty in a clear and comprehensive Point of view. Several prosecutors not appearing, their recog. misances were estrated. An old man was convicted of horse stealing, and received sentence of death; but the Judge stated, that if he could procure a character from the county he belonged to, he would recommend him to mercy. A soldier of the 62d regt, quartered here, was found guilty of stealing ford militia, lay in wait in the barn of the man who was first to have been attacked. In a short time afterwards, the robbers made their appearance, entered the house, and commenced the work of plunder. Mr Briscoe and his party then rushed out upon them, when, after exchanging many shots, the freebooters were compelled to decamp, and leave their spoil behind them, without in any respect effecting their nefarious purpose. This, however, was not all. Mr. Briscoe's information was so complete and accurate, that he had them all arrested in their houses, with the identical arms which they had concealed in the thatch at Tybroughny, together with a great deal of plunder, in their possession .-They were subsequently fully committed to Clonmel gaul. It is material to mention, that the gang extended their depreda. tions to the counties of Kilkenny, Tipperary, and Waterford. This valuable service to the public was as wisely concerted as it was well executed, and largely entitles the magistrate, and those by whom he was aided, to the general gratitude and esteem, while it has arrested in their course by whom much future mischief might have been perpetrated,

CONVENT SCHOOL .- On Sunday next, the cause of the ORPHAN will be advocated at St. Michael's Chapel, by the Rev. Mr. ENGLAND, we confidently hope, not unsuc. cessfully .- The support we afford to an Institution of this kind, of whatever sect or religion it may be, affords a general good -as it rescues many an innocent young Female from the horrors of Vice, and leads their infant steps to the Temple of Virtue and Happiness.
