

honors, for a riot and ed for one month.
 or good behaviour
 be tried at sessions, trial postponed.
 rial postponed.
 night, trial postponed business had con-adjourned to the nty records—On ip left this for nas Lloyd, Esq. ralee, where he county Kerry—between his Lord-a, he adjourned le Cork assizes, a Monday, and

 day—Sir Wm.
 ul Lakes of Kilston is at a seat ponement of the valence of fever erto been held. tagion are per-per says, "that k, was three a-ween the town firely suspend-y, states, "that believe, that it hout the year, that town than edical Gentle-uther of an epi-cter, existing ere, than in the ion, and it has r instance has tacked with it ey conclude,

 dges, Juries, manifested it-her an extra-of the atmos-per believes it

&c.

the counties near neral: the crops of flour, 20,000 wheat, were im-est, barley, and in the extreme.
 st quotation 2s.
 4s per quarter barrel on flour;
 eat request at the
 on Wednesday f, wheat, the y: within the r coomb, and malt, 2s.; and ore promising is fruitful, and land where last fa crop, there oats. The hay ularly in the per stone op of potatoes in Liverpool, ea at the low eember next.
 ither depres-
 in Strabane, ble interest similarly adorned—These being attached, he was resolved to bind his partisans more firmly to his cause by giving them drink—for this purpose he went to an adjacent brewery, to order porter, but when he returned, what was his surprise, what his vexation, to find, that the tree from which he was to pluck so much delight had been felled to the earth, and was then bearing off in triumph to be consigned to a watery grave—he saw it, and sighed in silence

The moment was critical—the indignation of the people had risen, and Mr. Naylor's mistaken loyalty & courage had fallen to so low a temperature, that, to ensure his safety he fled, concealed himself for a while until the tempest had abated, and then effected his escape by crossing the ferry, and got home by the strand—The victors then planted another tree, the following morning, at the market house with placards of 'Tutill and Independnce,' 'The Constitution and Laws,' but I could not discover any more of the insignia of party affixed to it than what I have named, however, I do not approve of their having done so, and I think them very blameable to have imitated the example of the blown-up fool who had begun it.— On Wednesday the Mayor went to the market house, and told the people, not in the dictatorial tone of authority, but with the most friendly conciliation that the tree ought to be taken down, that it was not his wish that any party standard should be erected, and that, at any hazard, he would himself assist to pull them down.—The wish of the Mayor was instantly complied with, and the tree was removed.

This Mr. Naylor, I recollect to have been the same, who at the last election designated the people of Limerick as a "rabby mob," and modestly said, "It would be well for Limerick, if there were 20,000 such men as him in it."—Presumptuous fool—arrogant intruder —does he impudently assume to himself the authority of controuling the citizens of Limerick? never were his insolent expectations more fallacious!— —Let him swell into importance in his own circle, if he can—let him clothe himself in the ragged garments of his loyalty if he likes, but I would give him this salutary advice—for the future, let him not intermeddle with the domestic peace of the City, or perhaps he will find, that even those whom he thought to have gratified, by his intolerant ostentation, may withdraw their countenance, and leave him in his primitive obscurity—they may, perhaps, strip him of the threadbare power which he has already gotten, and despised and deserted by every liberal and upright mind, he cannot claim the protection of any one—Did he in his long residence in London, ever plant an orange tree in St. Giles's—if he attempted it, he would have been treated as he deserved—I can tell him, that it is perfectly indigeneous to the soil of Irish Garryowen.
 However, I suppose, as he has been so unfortunate in his first endeavour, he will not make a second trial—With more liberality, and as much loyalty, as Mr Naylor,

I have the honour to be Sir, Your's very truly,
 A CITIZEN.
 Crown Office, Aug. 1.

MEMBER RETURNED TO SERVE IN PARLIAMENT.
 City of Limerick.—The Hon. J. P. Vereker of the City of Limerick, in the room of the Right Hon. Charles Vere-ker, now Viscount Gort.

The following are extracts of a letter from a gentleman resident in America, to his brother in this city, dated Powhatan, June 18, 1817:—
 "Dear W.—I recollect that in one of your letters you asked me am I now as fond of a republican form of government, since I experienced its effects as I was before that time?—I answer that I have completed seven years here, and every year more and more admire the wisdom and justice of this form of government and do consider it as much preferable to any form of government in Europe, as day is preferable to night—were I to enter into the reasons why I think so, this sheet would not contain one half of them; therefore you must for this time be content with my assertion or opinion.
 "From the wisdom of the form of this government—the love and admiration that all the most intelligent citizens entertain of it—the vast extent of territory and resources, and wonderfully increasing population, all combine to make this country in a few years more the greatest nation in the known world—its influence will be felt all over the world, from its power and greatness—It will cause the tyrants of the earth to tremble—while it will become the praise and admiration of the wise and good of all nations—Such are my expectations.
 "The air in this climate is more clear, more light, and more dry than the air in Ireland; to this circumstance I attribute under Providence its agreeing so well with my constitution
 "If the industrious people in Ireland who have more sons than they know how to provide for, would or could educate them until about 14 years of age, and send them at that age to a friend here, they can get their choice of almost any trade, as no fees are given here with apprentices, and many would prefer taking ads of this description, as they might expect that such may prove more profitable

BIRTH.
 Lady Barbara Ponsonby, at the Earl of Besborough's, Rochampton, Surrey, of a daughter.—In London, the lady of the Hon. Lord Cringletie of a son.—In Clonmel, the lady of Doctor Atkins Tipperary Regiment of a son.—At the Priory, in Dublin, the Right Hon. Lady Manners, of a son, still born.—At Southampton, the Lady of F. Thomas, of the Royal Navy, of a son.

MARRIED.
 In London, Joseph Fisher, Esq. of Bury-street, Solicitor, to Julia Anne, second daughter of Charles Herley, Esq. of Cork.—On Monday, at her father's, by special license, by the Rev. R. Langrish, Kingsmill Pennesher, Esq. Major in the county Limerick regiment, to Frances Catherine, eldest daughter of Major Thomas M. Hall, of Erin county Clare.
 —In London, Frederick William Wollaston, Esq. of Shenton Hall, in the county of Leicester, to Lucy, only daughter of the late, and sister to the present Sir H. Strachey, Bart. of Sutton Court, in the county of Somerset.—On the 19th of June last, at Philadelphia, Daniel Bazalgate, Esq. of New York, son of L. Bazalgate, Esq. of Gloucester Place, London, to Miss Margaret M'Crea, of Philadelphia.—At Kirk, Braddan, Isle of Man, George Lowray, Esq. late Lieutenant in the 57th regiment, to Miss Mary Anne Good Stephenson, youngest daughter of Leonard Stephenson, Esq. of Stamford, Lincolnshire.—In Waterford, Mr. John Murphy, to Anastasia, daughter of the late Mr. Michael Birmingham.

DIED.
 On Friday evening, at Aghada House, county Cork, the seat of his father, John Roche, jun. Esq.—Saturday morning, Mr. Thomas Jones, of the North Main Street, Cork.— In Patrick street, Mrs. E. Smith, wife of Mr. John Smith.
 —On Friday last, Mrs. Lane, wife of Mr. T. Lane, of Kyril's Quay, Cork.—In Castle street, Cork, Mr. Wm.
 Kemp, Woollen Draper.—Mr. B. Travers, Apothecary to the Dispensary, Hanover street, Cork.—At Heytesbury House, in the 79th year of his age, Sir W. P. A'Court.
 —The 14th last, near Wolviston, county of Durham, at the age of 104, Mrs. Mary Stephenson, widow of the late Bartholomew Stephenson. The mother of the deceased died at the age of 103, a sister at 107, another sister at 105, and a brother at the age of 97, making in the whole 521 years as the united ages of the above five persons. No other family perhaps ever produced so many remarkable instances of longevity.—At Highamhills, Walthamstow, John Parman, Esq.
 —On the 1st instant, at his seat St. Catherine's, in the 88th year of his age, the Right Honourable David Latouche, many years one of his Majesty's Privy Council, and forty years a Member of the Parliament of Ireland.—At Dangannon, Mr. John Gibbon; and in a fortnight after, of a decline, his son, Mr. Thomas Gibbon, Attorney.—In Dublin, Mrs. Elizabeth Vigors, relict of Lieutenant General Urban Vigors, aged 80.—In London, Benjamin Hall, Esq. M.
 P. for the county of Glamorgan.—At Rockabbey, on Saturday last, after a few days illness, Anne, wife of Richard Taylor, Esq.—a lady whose many and endearing qualities rendered her an object of universal respect and esteem—Her loss will be much deplored by the Poor in her neighbourhood, who enjoyed her bounty, which she defused with unsparing hand—but who shall describe the agonised feelings of a disconsolate husband, and of eight little children who have thus lost their maternal parent.—On Monday night, at his mother's house in this city, Captain John Macnamara, of the 67th regiment of foot—Long and arduous service in various parts of the Globe, had impaired his constitution, but the recent death of his brother, Thady Macnamara, Esq. of Ayle, Co. Clare, (whose decease we stated in our paper of Tuesday,) had too powerful an effect on his feelings, to be able to support the shock, and he sunk into an early grave, beloved and regretted by all who knew him.—At Tullamore, the infant and only son of Lieutenant Colonel De Courcey, of the 8th or King's regiment.—At Fort Union, on Monday, aged 67, Mrs. Fitzgerald, relict of Gerald Fitzgerald, Esq. of Ballinvera—a lady who during a long life was respected and esteemed, and her death is much bewailed.—At Cahircorish, Mr. Denis Dwyer, a respectable farmer and a truly honest man.—On Friday last at Ballybunion, near Listowel, Geo.
 Gun, Esq. formerly high sheriff of the county Kerry.— On Wednesday, the Rev. Henry Potter, of the Order of discaled Carmelites.

EXPORTS.—Pleasant Hill, London, 7 pipes port wine, R. & T. Westropp—45 tierces pork, E Ryan & Sons—66 packs feathers, 10 hags rage, 260 bundles calf and kid skins, D. O'Callaghan—Clyde, Rothsay, 78 firkins butter, Jas. Ferguson—Friends, Greenock, 724 brls oats, 50 firkins butter, Wm. White—Hero Dublin, 18,131 gals. Irish Spirits, Stein, Browne & co.

of Excise, each day, (h until three o'Clock.
 Two sufficient Suret the due execution and fi must be completed with date of the Contract—in the Proposals.
 The Store-keeper w ground on application t The Proposals to be at his Office, on or befo and the cover, sealed a for building Excise Sto By Order of the

FEVER H
 The claims which thi the attention of a l been lately so ably assert nothing more than to be their indisputable sancti of human misery is inde terest: but when this lab with private advantage: dered to others become with our own welfare; t interest becomes synonym and comforts of our fello fied with our own. It do exercise of reflection to between those remarks an which we now solicit the ers. "The pestilence ness," and by which tho moned to the bar of Etern to this City, in a great progress (and that prog dreadful) by the salutary Hospital. If this Insti where would the hundred few months, not only shelte ciety, have found an asylu breathed their last agonies sery, after having been late in our streets, nay, at our relief every way disproportion edness! That this languag loured will appear from the —not only the beds but the are covered with FEVER pa quence of this alarming i funds can no longer suppor moment of extremity the L has directed SERMONS to be Churches in this City, on ne this invaluable institution; a confidently expected that contribute to a cause which with benevolence, considere than it is with our own priva

PUBLIC THA
 THE Governors of this Char est acknowledgments to the HOGAN, for his eloquent and vered at St. Michael's Chapel, e aid of its Funds. To the May Rd. H. Fitz. Gibbon, George. E.
 Francis Arthur, and J. Howly, E benevolently acted as Collectors their highest gratitude. To the table Auditory and Public, wh occasion, they offer their sincer Receipts at the Sermon, incl Donation from Major Wool
 From Hon. Major Vereker, General O'Loughlin, ...
 Counsellor O'Connell, per Rev Hogan, ....
 A Lady, by .... do.
 A Lady, .... do.
 Mr. Wm. Wallace, ....

For St. John's, Newfoundland, //2 And the Bay of Fundy, British North America,
 THE Fast Sailing Brig, MAID of the MILL, has good accommodations for Passengers, and is expected to sail about the 25th inst.
 For particulars, apply to Mr. LUKE MULLOCK, Mr.
 JOHN GRAHAM, or the CAPTAIN on board