LIMERICK FORUM.

AN Institution, under this title, will commence at the Public Rooms, BRUNSWICK STREET, on TUESDAY the 23d instant, and will be continued on every successive TUESDAY, from half past Seven in the Evening to Ten.

The leading object of this undertaking is to give Youth an early and familiar opportunity of speaking in public, and such questions will be studiously selected as will enlarge the understanding and improve the mind. By a reference to the rules, it will be observed that all Topics connected with religion, Politics, or private Character, are excluded from Debate.

The advantages of an Institution, tending to improve the morals and mind of Youth, are too obvious to require observation, and its benefits to all ranks in society are such as to give it strong claims on the support of an enlightened community. The most illustrious ornaments of this country, owe their fame and fortune to these minor schools of eloquence, and in all the great cities of the Empire, men of letters value their utility, and liberally come forward to patronize them. The Conductor, therefore, places this Institution under the fostering care of the Citizens of Limerick.

The patronage of many respectable characters already fortifies him in announcing the LIMERICK FORUM as a source of instructive amusement. The attendance of the fair sex is most anxiously requested—Questions highly interesting to them will be frequently introduced, and arrangements made to give them distinct seats, free from obstruction or annoyance.

RULES.

1. President chosen by a Majority.
2. All points of order and privilege to be decided by the President.
3. Each Speaker will be allowed fifteen minutes to debate the question. The person opening the debate will be allowed twenty minutes, together with the privilege of reply.
4. Politics, Religion and Private character, or any allusion to them, excluded from debate.
5. Doors open at Seven, Chair taken at half past Seven, and the whole to conclude at Ten.
6. The question for the next night to be read from the Chair, when the debate closes.

Tickets of Admission Ten Pence.
The receipts of the first night.
TUESDAY THE 23d. SEPTEMBER,
WILL BE APPLIED TO THE FEVER HOSPITAL.
When the following question will be offered for Debate.

'Has Oratory been more beneficial than injurious to Society?'

Tickets of Admission for that night only, One Shilling and Eight Pence.
