IN consequence of my being so long in England attending my duty in Parliament and as Lord of the Treasury, I find that it has not industriously propagated that I intend to decline being a candidate on the next Election for the Co. of Limerick; I therefore think it right to give a direct and unqualified contradiction to so gross and infamous a falsehood, and beg leave to assure my friends I never had the least idea of the kind—on the contrary, being supported by many of the very strongest interests in the County, and having met with great success as far as I have been yet enabled to canvass; I have every confidence of being placed in the same situation which I have been honored with for seven successive Elections that I have been returned for my native County, which I conceive is the best possible proof that my conduct has met the approbation of my Constituents; and I beg leave to add, that I value the distinguished honor of being its Representative more than any other earthly consideration.
