

imperting with a witness he Lord involved in the charge. y. He only now protested explanations as those of the super ture for the discussion hat no man who respected nequated the great body of ould remain silent when he ented conduct of the servants ecess of Parliament.

t intend to detain the House general observations which eral Members. Topics had he might be disposed to give he thought the present was or their discussion. He did that moment, to enter into a d done since the last Session. arrive for the explanation of ean time they would be rmation in their power. He a communication to make ad been done, as connected f the country, and he trusted ew by the clearest evidence, ees which might render it rt of what had been enacted owing to the energy of those ad been said on the other side his entire concurrence with im, as to the conduct of his he could assure the House, prove, upon the proper occa- ing those confident assertions ived to persuade some Gen- measures of restriction upon e, the greater part, if not the on which formed the ground n, was created by emissaries ministers themselves. ed his heartfelt concurrence as, which referred to an event at one feeling throughout the which the Noble Secretary of he thought, not likely to be Lord's reference to the history e first Report of the Commit- us Corpus Act was suspended. ouse must, he thought, derive from the statement of the e the intention of Ministers at evidence of the grounds upon as proposed.

the Address extremely dis- nt no promise even of economy different was this composition American President, which had public journals. For the rea- he could not hesitate to pro- direct insult to the feelings and the country. imously agreed to, and a Com- draw up the Address. e notice of a motion for to- of Condolence to her Majesty ; also of Motions with regard orders, and the disposition of ured.

had come to the determination of adhering to the old Statute of Charles the Second, by signing their petitions with only twenty names; and such was the sanction of the present Petition from Bath, as they apprehended that large assemblies might render the parties subject to the penalties of the Suspension Bill.

The Petition, with seven others, was brought up, read, and laid on the table.—Adjourned.

LONDON—JANUARY 28.

The paragraph copied into the Morning Chronicle and other Papers from a Sunday Paper, relative to military reductions, is totally unfounded.

All the second Battalions of Regiments are already reduced, as have been all the Colonial Corps that can possibly be spared. It is not, we understand, at present in contemplation to reduce to the extent of ten Regiments of the Line, nor are there any Cavalry Regiments under orders for disbandment but the 24th and 25th Dragoons, which corps will be reduced when they arrive from India.

The assertion that there is a force of 30,000 men preparing for reduction, is equally untrue, as it is absurd, and can only have the tendency of creating mischief and discontent with the measures of Government, by exciting expectations in the public mind, regarding the limitations of our establishments that cannot possibly be realized.—Courier.

The 86th. Regt. have not arrived in England. A matrimonial alliance is about to take place between the Hon. Captain G. G. Waldegrave, and the Hon. Miss Curzon, the daughter of Baroness Howland, and grand-daughter of Lord Curzon.

The Earl of Chre is shortly to lead to the Hymeneal altar the Hon. Miss Seymour. The nuptial ceremony is to take place at Paris, which is the cause of the protracted stay in that city of Mrs. Fitzherbert, under whose care the interesting Miss Seymour has been for many years.

DEATH OF THE REV. JOHN CROSBIE.

Amid the many valuable characters who have paid the debt of nature during the unusual mortality of the present season, few have passed through this probationary scene, with more practical, but unostentatious virtue, than Mr. Crosbie, whose death we stated in the Chronicle of the 21st ult.—We have had occasion, during the scarcity of the year which has passed, to record the exert of his beneficence, in his devoted attention to the necessities of the poor; and at the present month his death produces a chasm in society, which we must mourn over with hopeless sorrow.—In his domestic life, Mr. Crosbie possessed every valuable quality which could endear him to his afflicted family, and the probity and respectability of his intercourse with society, is attested by general and most unfeigned regret on this melancholy occasion.

Mr. Crosbie was the second son of the late William Talbot, Esq. of Mount-Talbot, in the Co. Roscommon, by the Lady Anne Crosbie, eldest daughter of William, Earl of Glandore.—He took the name of Crosbie, pursuant to the will of his uncle, the late venerated Earl of Glandore, to whose estates he had succeeded.—Mr. Crosbie was married to Miss Lloyd, sister of the respectable Chairman of the County Limerick.

PRINTED BY THE PROPRIETORS,
At No. 2, Rialto-street, Limerick.

Within Eight Miles of Limerick; cons and 900 Acres of Arble and

ALSO TO BE L

From the 25th of Mar
In such Divisions as may be
The Lands of BALLYMA
Joining the Village of AHLA
320 Acres.

And that part of the La
RATHCAINO

Called the Castle Quarter, containing superior quality of these Land is so
to require comment.

Application in writing to be made the Earl of Buckinghamshire Gra Lincolnshire, the Hon. Thos. Fox,
Grosvenor-square, London, or Arc
George's-street, Limerick.

LIBERTIES of L

To be let,

FROM THE 25TH MAR
And possession given then, y
The following denoin

BALLYKEE

In the Liberties of Either in the whole or in su be agreed on

That part as held by CONY
MARA, containing
TIMOTHY HOGG, Farm
F. LLOYD'S, Est. about more or less

These lands are within a mile Ballinacurra Bridge, and are Dairy and Meadow.

Application to GEO. GORR
and R. WILSON, Esq. Ballinacu person to shew the Lands.

TO BE L

FROM the 25th of March ne shall be agreed upon, the
the Lands of PARK, in the L Limerick, and within a few
Mary's Mall:—

No. 1.—A small Field to the r and Cos. Brewery, held by th
MARK SHAUGHNESSY.

2.—A Field at present unoc
at Park, with a good Farm Hou

3.—That part now held by Park Lodge, with a comfortable

4.—Park-Lodge, as lately
KENNEDY, containing about F
Land, on which there is a seat
and well walled Garden.

Proposals (in writing) to F
Esq. Adelphi, Corofin.—Tim
Lodge, will shew the Divisions Immediate Possession could Add