We have the most satisfactory authority for contrated dicting the report, which we quoted from some Dublia Papers last post, of its being Mr. Justice Day's intention to retire from the Bench after the approaching Assizes.—Any intimation of this kind was wholly groundless.—Kerry Econing Post.

Ten more of the persons charged with being concerned in the outrage at Mr. Sparling's, Patrick's. Well, and murdering Mr. Cross, were at an early hour on Thursday morning apprehended by Alexander Rose, and Thomas P. Vokes, Esqrs. with a military detachment, near Patrick's-Well, and lodged in jail for trial at the ensuing Assizes—see committals.

Wednesday night, about eleven o'clock, some fellows attempted to get into the house of a poor man named Kelly, in the North Liberties, but not succeeding there, they backe into William Riedy's, by forcing in the windows, and presenting a pistol to his head, threatened to blow out his brains if he stirred, and demanding his money, but in this they were disappointed, and on retiring took with them the poor man's wearing a pparel and a few other trifling articles.
