DIED—On Monday, very much lamented, aged 71, Mrs Spotswood, relict of Francis Spotswood, Esq. of Tralee, Attorney—On Friday, at Mallow, Ralph Cole Bowen, Esq. sincerely regretted by a large family and numerous acquaintance, son of the late Henry Cole Bowen, Esq. of Bowen's Court, Cork—At Kilstone, in Berkshire, Lieut.-General Charles Terrant, late of the Royal Engineers—On Sunday, after a short illness, at his house in Thomas-street, of a complaint of liver, which baffled every exertion of medical aid to check its rapid and irresistible progress, Alexander Graydon, Esq. To the citizens of Limerick it is unnecessary to enlarge on the good qualities, the professional merit, or private virtues of Surgeon Graydon: he has been nearly twenty years amongst them, and every succeeding year but added to the opinion of his worth. As Staff Surgeon of this district during the late war, he went through the arduous duties of his station with a considerate feeling for the soldier's sufferings, at the same time, observing a strict regard for the service: by an honourable evenness of conduct, gaining the gratitude of the one, and the respect and confidence of the other. A wide and respectable circle of friends will hear of his unexpected dissolution with sorrowing hearts, and on his amiable wife and six young and interesting children, the melancholy event inflicts a wound, that will touch the tenderest sensibilities of the heart while memory holds a place. Mr. Graydon was a gentleman of such conciliating manners, that in the course of his long and respectable practice in this city, he never made an enemy, and the concern now universally felt is, to his afflicted family, a consolatory offering of public esteem and public sympathy for their sorrowings. His remains were this morning taken for interment to the family vault at Kilkullen, County Kildare—At Bristol, Lieut.-Colonel Henry Balfour, late of the East India Co.'s service—Lady Caroline Parker, daughter of the Earl of Morley—In John-street, Mr. Peter Coonerty—In Bridge-street, Mr. Malechi Kerby—On Saturday night, in Patrick-street, Mrs. Dunn, relict of the late Mr. — Dunn, of this City, Architect; a Lady of the most exemplary and religious habits, and sincerely regretted by her family and friends—Thomas Acheson, Esq. late of Capel-street, Dublin—In London, aged 78, Thomas Warburton, Esq. formerly Major in the 7th or Queen's Own Dragoons—Eliza, wife of John Eardley Wilmot, Esq. of Warwick—At Canada, Sir Robert Hall, Bart.
Commander-in-Chief of his Majesty's Naval Forces on that station.
