DIED—On Tuesday morning, at her house in George's street, after a few days illness, Anne, relict of the late Edmond Fitz-Gerald, Esq. of Ashville, near this City. Her afflicted family have their consolation in a full assurance that she lived and died in the faith of JESUS, and now inherits that rest which remaineth for the people of God—Yesterday, in the seventeenth year of his age, John, eldest son of Christopher Adamson, Esq. of Newborough, in this County. Among those young persons whose career of life has, in the estimation of human wisdom, prematurely ceased, few indeed have been more justly the subjects of heartfelt grief, than the once fair and manly youth, whose entrance on a better life we now record. Highly gifted by his Creator with those qualities of the mind, those dispositions of the heart, and those mild dignified graces of manner that attract, that ensure admiration without envy, and esteem without decay, he seemed destined to distinction for worth and honor, but God, in his inscrutable wisdom, determined otherwise; his parents and those privileged with his friendship, can alone find consolation, by seeking it with HIM who has smitten them, who, only, upholds the afflicted and broken in spirit. "Speedily was he taken away, lest that wickedness should alter his understanding, or deceit beguile his soul."—On Saturday night, in Rutland-street, William Tinsley, Esq. Attorney at Law, a Gentleman universally esteemed and regretted; he was gifted with an inexhaustible fund of original humour, and in his professional pursuits, an indefatigable advocate.—In Clare-street, on Monday even-

Lieutenant John Gibbings, of the 18th regt. Madras Native Infantry, (son of the late Rev. Richard Gibbings, of Gib-bings-grove, County Cork,) in consequence of a grape shot wound received while charging within five yards of the enemy's batteries at Mabeidpoor, on the 21st December last.
This gallant young officer was one of General Sir John Malcolm's personal Staff. He had obtained the premium for extraordinary proficiency in the Oriental languages, and had lately been promoted to the General Staff in the Quarter Master General's department. General Malcolm's communications to his relatives strongly testify his public and private virtues, and the loss sustained by the service in this most promising officer.—At Dunmanway, Mr. J. Fitzmaurice—
