in which the Subscribers express their surprise at the intention of "certain Magistrates" intending to apply to Government for the additional Police establishment. The High Sheriff has complied with the requisition, and appointed this day for a Meeting, to take the object of it into consideration.

The Farming Society at their late Meeting unanimously agreed that the Society at their next Meeting shall appear in uniform coats and waistcoats of cloth, from the merino factory; a just and well deserved tribute of approbation of the public spirited exertions of Mr. Thomas Nowlan, the Proprietor and founder of that most valuable institution.

The fair of Newport yesterday was well attended by purchasers: Store Bullocks rated nearly 30s. higher than at Ballinasloe—every lot exhibited were sold, except three—Milch Cows, as usual, maintained their prices, and were in very great demand.

We understand that the late outrage at Donoman in this County, as stated in our last, was attended with very great brutality by the murderers—it appears that seven of them had a warrant to seize a few cattle, which they did, and were conveying away, when three men returning from dinner to a rick of hay met them passing—the specialties conceived they were attempting a rescue, and as proved at the Coroner's Inquest, without any hesitation, plunged a bayonet into the heart of Flaherty, and wounded most desperately the two others—the conduct of Flaherty's uncle, Mr. M. Flaherty, Post-Master of Croom, is deserving every encomium—having been sent for, he, very much to his credit, by his influence and resistance stood at the door of a house where the seven men took refuge with the bayonet, reeking with the blood of his nephew in his hand, and succeeded in preventing the massacre of those who had just before taken the lad's life, by a crowd of at least 200 who had assembled on hearing of the murder, until J. D. Lyons, Esq. resorted to the scene, and secured the fellows who are lodged in Jail.

A cart load of turnips was sent to this City this week, by Sir Edward O'Brien, one of which weighed 34lbs.

Henry-street, has been liberally offered to the Committee, for the reception of beggars in this City.

Nearly £200 reward are offered for the apprehension of the villains who murdered Robert Gorman, an active Sub-constable near Castletown-Cooyers in this Co. as particularly mentioned in a former Chronicle.
