

J.S. BENCH—MAY 19.
Prosecution of Alderman Magee, the Proprietor of the Evening Post.

The Defendant, came into Court. He stated, that the Prosecution had endeavoured in his Affidavit, to prove all the alleged Libels said in Carrick's Paper. Alderman Magee a most voluminous Affidavit, which, for the first fifty-seven pages, without ever mentioning the name of the Defendant, was done evidently that he had no power to defend himself. The entire should go up to the Court in their minds. Alderman Magee, nor could he have sworn, to the Libel or personal attack in the Evening Post—there is not one page of his Affidavit in Carrick's Paper—where it was said that Conscience was a nuisance. Here was no personal attack, but in general terms a Libel of Conscience, of which he had made an Affidavit in ignorance of what had been said, and that he had no participation. After a very able argument, to which of Indictment, which were returned by a Grand Jury yesterday, the Editor of the Weekly Freeman's Libelation of certain statements have been ignored.

WATERFORD.

Several acts of riot were committed yesterday. A banner bearing the expression "Head or Work." The mob, led by boys, broke the shop window of Stace White, King's street, and whom we cannot conceive even to a blind populace, for any, resentment. Some were used in committing the outrage of the family. The shop was broken, and about 33s. worth of bread, and about 33s. worth of goods, were destroyed. Where is thy gratitude? A quantity of glass in the front of the shop of Waterford charity, Throat Bridge-street. The police, however, of long duration; the magistrates soon restored the order of our streets. It was not ne-
