

Are you the man who saw two ladies to this said he was not—defendant replied “I know you and your family are always laughing at you in the morning”—witness was not all day till that hour, and did not see Mr. or five days before. “Gentlemen, (said subject myself to be laughed at, and I am he more cautious not to laugh at others”— charge him with laughing in his face—Mr. witness the evening after, at five o'clock Holland had sent for him to Nough to explanation—witness assured him upon his laugh at him, and went away perfectly time—believed that Holland thought himself was sure it was under that conviction he was an Attorney's clerk, and as there had evasions made upon that subject, it was necessary with the leave of the Court, to try a few questions. “Gentlemen, in the year 1812, I gave to pay debts, and went to Dublin; I am not I did follow that profession with my own clothes, till my property was cleared—it is I don't find it necessary to pursue it further.” at many applications (300 people) have come opinion, supposing him to be an Attorney, but that he pursues that profession. Flin called could time to say, that though he was satisfied, not, and the result would be that a message served—next day Flin again called, with two on, and begged of witness to accede to the he had to offer—that Mr. Power should go Holland's house, and make an apology; he would be friends, and that a dinner would be said he would not, as he had not not see why he should make an apology—following, witness went to the Commercial stood at the door to hear the news, not being the house—was attacked by Mr. Holland, in three blows of a whip—they were smart—face, which he thought at the time might be consequence—witness did strike him in revenged to take the whip. Several gentlemen afterwards at different times to settle it, gies—most of them said they came of their own volition having been sent by Holland, except Mr. Barrington did so since the Record and offered to pay costs—his answer was, that he would not, and required twelve gentlemen to give satisfaction—does not know whether or not that he increased his damages from £300 as angry with Mr. Russell, his then Agent, violated his feelings at £300—never gave him a cent.

is here closed at both sides, no witness having for the Defendant, except Mr. Power.

Judge then charged the Jury—he told them question but the Plaintiff had made out his question for the jury was, the extent of the damage given. It was charitable to suppose that witness received some offence previous to the Plaintiff's but then Flin's calling and Power's answers to be, a sufficient explanation. Power was given no apology, as no offence was given by him, in one it would have been an admission of insult.
 went through the evidence, and alluded to the various kinds which were to follow, if Power had accepted of his proposal. The interference of gentlemen in mitigation of damages, but so gross an insult and whipping was entitled to something more than a apology.

Jury retired for about ten minutes, and returned with £50 Damages and 6d. Costs.
