have obtained it; and, as she is not less deserving, we hope she may be equally successful. Nothing can be more attractive than the entertainments she has selected. The celebrated Melodrama of "The Lady of the Lake," will be got up in the very best style—new scenery, dresses, and decorations, with the original music, songs, glees, and chorusses, are all in preparation, and will give great effect to this very popular drama. In this season of sadness, the musical Melange will be very exhilarating; it has been aptly arranged, and will be a delightful entertainment. Miss Walcott's performance on the Harp, ought alone to crowd the Boxes. The splendid talents of several Gentlemen will be exerted. "The Apothecary-quizzed," will close the evening's entertainments, and is the most laughable farce in our language. For the most captivating and deserving object in nature—an accomplished female, we supplicate public generosity.
