

ly of the Corporation will be to elect an Alderman, in the West, Esq. deceased.

and Constantine Malloy, (mother were convicted at the last Commission administered poison to Edward to kill him, are respited. It is mother is to be transported.

Anna Laffey Tax has at last been years from incontrovertible facts of Dublin, have paid no less 100 on account of this Tax, over they ought to have paid.

erials and utensils, with Distillery, Co. Cavan, are to be sold, for King's duties, on the 1st of

RY CASE-KING'S BENCH.

Rogers, Hughes, and others.
tion brought by the plaintiff against the ing seized a quantity of Tea in September, and undergone discussion before the Court, and from their decision there was an ed their judgment in favour of plaintiff, the case. On the part of Defendants, the made a most able argument to shew, that a mistake on the part of the Officers, yet it ne.

ferred an eloquent and able charge to the d a verdict of £1200 Damages, and costs ntiff—Messrs. Burrowes, O'Connell, and —The Solicitor-General, Messrs. Grady,

ut, Counsel for the Honorable Commissio-

RE, NOVEMBER 23.

en who signed the requisition to the ng a Public Meeting of the Inhabitants onsider of the propriety of Addressing t at Conway's Hotel, on Tuesday, to ep should be taken, in consequence of e Sheriff's to convene such Meeting. ais was called to the Chair. After e the following Resolution was adopt-at the reasons assigned by the High ing to convene the Meeting, we con- ly unconstitutional, as introducing the veyain on a measure decided by the eh of the Legislature; and conveying Majesty, which the abandonment of and Penalties did not warrant.

then adjourned to yesterday, when the determination of calling a Public lves, and of leaving it to the judgment a large, whether, under all the circum- ase, and after the example had been so blicity afforded them in England, they ss her Majesty, on the relinquishment made against her.

FASHIONABLE AND THE WOOLLEN DRAPERY, HAT WARE-HOUSE,
No. 6, &c.

At four o'clock on Thursday morning, a number of armed fellows, on horseback, were seen passing the cross of Ballyneety, and having asked whether the Police were there, and being answered in the negative, they continued their route, and drove into a forge, from whence they took a sledge, and having supplied themselves with lighted coals, they proceeded to attack the house of Patrick Ward, a respectable farmer, which, after firing into, they burglariously entered. Garrett Rodney Fitz-Gerald, Esq. a Magistrate of this County, residing near Ward's, hearing the shots, arose from his bed, and having got the assistance of some of his neighbours, they hastened to where the noise was, and approached Ward's house, where the banditti was assembled; they being alarmed, attempted an attack on Mr. Fitz-Gerald's party, which was spiritedly resisted, and the fellows beat off. One of the banditti was shot dead, and two others mortally wounded; three were taken prisoners, but they got off. They were armed with muskets, pistols, and blunderbusses, and left behind them three stand of fire-arms. All the gang had their faces blackened, and one of them had a heated long and iron bar in his hand, which were, with difficulty, wrested from him by Mr. Fitz-Gerald.

The Right Worshipful the Mayor, who was presiding in the Court of Conscience when he received information of the above occurrence, immediately adjourned, and, with that promptitude which has distinguished him as a Magistrate, proceeded, with a detachment of the Scots Greys, to the scene of action, for the purpose of holding an Inquest. The fog was so dense that the party found their way, with difficulty, to the residence of the deceased; but, after the most minute enquiry and examination on oath of several persons in the neighbourhood, no vestige of the body could be traced. It is, however, confidently supposed, that the miscreants committed it to the earth as soon as possible, in some remote Church-yard. The Mayor and party reached town about seven o'clock on Thursday evening.

The man who was killed is named Patrick Connell, of Cabinnarry.

It is said that the party went for the purpose of taking off Ward's sister-in-law, against her consent; and the young woman, on hearing their approach, decamped from the house in her chemise, and sought protection of a friend, three miles distant.

Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Fitz-Gerald and his party, as, if their example was generally followed, the midnight ruffians' audacity would be checked, and the industrious man reside in safety under his humble roof.

A detachment of the Police is in future to be stationed at Ballyneety Cross.

Tuesday night, several houses in the Barony of Kerry, in this County, were burglariously entered

VOL

Wed

FROM

O

Letter during Term, N to.

OF A

ON TH

A H

Appl Limeric

A

Mensur

THE
of ROS
OAK n
Prop
KANE

TH
Late is

Prop
Wag;

Upon v
For