ours.

Friday morning, at an early hour, and a party of the 4th Revenue under his command, stationed at Cru-Clare, accompanied by Mr. Anthony Preventive Surveyor, proceeded to the allyeni, and Ballyboy, where they destroyed an extensive distillery, upwards of 300 gallons of Potale, fermenting vessels; they also seized of dry and ground malt, and made ers, found in the act of drying it.

Following Revenue duty was performed by Lieut. O'Shaughnessy, Excise Officer, and by Lieut. Callaghan and a party of Highlanders, between the 5th and 16th On the lands of Ahavorta, in this seized 24 barrels of malt, and destroyed of same in process. Near Beaghdestroyed an illicit still, 1000 gallons of and seized 12 barrels of dry malt. At sacks of ground malt, and at Crough horses and a cart conveying malt. At seized two boilers at full work, and 16 vessels, containing 500 gallons of the neighbourhood of Foyne's-Island, and Dysart, destroyed five distilleries, e and singlings, and 90 barrels of e seizures were lodged in the stores ale, and the owners of the distilleries to prison.

Friday night, sixteen lambs were felonied on the Lands of Lackin, near Co. Tipperary; a reward is offered in Chronicle for the apprehension of the ra.

Yesterday last, a woman keeping a broker's brought before the Mayor, charged with purchasing a small piece of Tartan from a soldier of the 79th Regiment.— The woman confessed having purchased the for three shillings, but denied that she was knowing it to have been part of a soldier's accoutrements, it not being an article of military use, not bearing any regimental mark, and being commonly exposed for sale in the market, and having been proved on oath that the woman was seen to carry the plaid in piece, and being of good character, his Worship refused to inflict the penalty under the act—and marked his discountenance of any traffic of this description being carried on with soldiers, and that she should forfeit the money paid. In future any person purchasing from a soldier of accoutrements will be liable
