DEATHS.

Yesterday, of ~~an~~, at the house of Lady Clarina, (her afflicted and much beloved parent,) the Hon. Catherine Jane Stratton, wife of Lieutenant Colonel Stratton, 40th Regiment of Infantry, and daughter of the late General the Right Hon. Lord Clarina, of Elm-park, in this County. Her union scarcely completed four months; during that period she bore forth as a bright example, not only of the attributes of exalted rank, but likewise of all the virtues that confer honour upon private life. Religious and domestic in her habits, elegant and refined in her manners, charitable to the poor, affable to all, she was highly and universally esteemed as a model of a wife, a neighbour, and a Christian. In the premature death of this amiable Lady, we find another of those awful warnings which remind us of the uncertainty and instability of human life, and prove that no combination of virtues, however rare—no human glory, however brilliant—no conjugal felicity, however ecstatic—no domestic calamity, however lamentable, can add one moment more to the registry of Heaven, or arrest its dispensations in the visitation of death. A few days have only gone by since this Lady, in the full possession of health and youth, experienced every happiness which worth and virtue are sure to give; endeared to the fondest of husbands by reciprocal fondness and love; to her acquaintances, by manners at once captivating, engaging, and kind; and to her God, by the practice of every Christian virtue.

On Monday, suddenly, most sincerely regretted, Mr. Michael Bourke, of Broad-street.

Of the dysentery, in the City Marshalsea, on Monday, Mr. Fitz-Gerald.

On the 14th ult. the Rev. Robert Dunlop, of Athlone, aged 48, one of the Ministers of the "Baptist Irish Society," who at Whitinside last, in perfect health, attended the Annual General Association of Baptist Ministers and Messengers, then held at CloghJordan, and preached a most impressive Sermon from the words of his Divine Master, "What think ye of Christ?" Matthew 22, 42. This faithful Minister, although not possessed of very shining talents, was eminently useful in clearly expounding the Sacred Volume, whose holy influence in the humility of his life, he also exhibited as "An Epistle of Christ known and read of all men"—his faith let us follow, "considering the end of his conversation, Jesus Christ, the same to-day, yesterday, and for ever."

At Westminster, aged 65 years, Henry Arthur Herbert, of Muckross, County Kerry, Esq. formerly M. P. for that County, and the Boroughs of East Grinstead and Tralee.

In Dublin, the Hon. Chaworth Brabazon, youngest son of the Earl of Meath.
