discovered a lane in the Irish Town, in this City A THE DWELLIG HOUSE & CONCERNS mother agive female children, two grown to woman's estate, we iscovered in a dark, damp, ground floor of an house-fin an absolute state of nakedness, excepting a small coring thrown over the shoulders of some of them; they see together on the ground as if to preserve some beat in massives - no bed -no fuel -no food was to be seen. Chis circumstance is vouched to us by the Archdescon of Lerick, Rev. William D. Hoare, and Lieutenant Wil-On Friday, at that, near Public, the Lady of the lian who visited their misserable bovel, and, for the present, projed them with some poratoes, straw, and fuel. We undtand those Gentlemen also visited, yesterday, several orthodes of wreichedness, and that they have, in conjustion with other Geatlemen, allotted one day in each Esq. Barrister at liof a daughter. for such like visits, and that they are ready to underthe disposal of any Clothing or pecuniary aid that may still-born. committed to their care. Any articles of east clothing bug by in families might, we think, be well disposed of in and beir. A WAV. Report of the Committee for the Year 1921. Whilst presenting you with a review of this Institution daughter. for the past year, your Committee are anxious to convey to you by their present statement, what his been, and may be effected, through the medium of employment for the lower; classes. Under the impression of its utility, your Committee bave invariably acted; and they flad that since their of Prospert, aty Cork. last statement, a considerable number has been added to the Edward Mer, Esq. Comptroller of the Port of Sligo. cases relieved and this relief not of a momentary, but in many instance, of a permanent nature, as it places within the reach of the individual the means of its constanance. -The spinning of Vinen Yarn s the chief employment, and of this article 3188 h inks have been spun this year. Your Committee have also been attentive to the Clothing Branch, and have within the part year distributed 150 Garments; but they are still of opinion (sanctioned as this opinion now is by more than six years experience.) that the end of this Institution is better answered by applying the greater part of your fund to the employment of the industrious, than in expending the entire to procure Clothing for the intolent; reserving, however, sufficient to meet the recommendations of Subscribers, who may wish REAL OBJECTS to be relieved, by granting garments at belf price. Your Committee have now only to request a continuance of that support which his bitherto upheld this Institution, and without which, all their efforts must bove unavailing.
