DEATHS.

On Thursday, at the house of his brother, Counsellor

Townshend, in Leeson-street, Dublin, Henry Townshend,

Esq. His dissolution was the effect of a very long illness, under which he suffered for nearly three years, and which was aggravated by several deceitful indications of returning health. He bore the vicissitudes of his protracted trial with the fortitude and hope which never fail to sustain a sincere Christian. No man lived more in society than he did, or perhaps ever moved in a more extended circle of it, sharing in the esteem and attachment of all descriptions. His understanding was manly, clear, and informed; his sentiment of friendship were sterling and pure; his heart was warm, his hand generous, and his manners affectionate.

At the Parsonage, Narraghmore, County Kildare, on the 13th of September, in the 16th year of her age, Miss Anna

Torrens, second daughter of the venerable the Archdeacon of Dublin; and on Tuesday, the 15th instant, at the same residence, in her 18th year, Miss Catherine Torrens, the eldest daughter of the same Clergyman.

In Ennis, Michael Kenny, Esq. of Dysert, and Mr. Gerald Fitzgerald.

At Beaufield, County Galway, Martin Galway, Esq.

In Ely-place, Dublin, aged 24 years, Lady Anne Jocelyn, only sister of the Earl of Roden.

At Lismore, the Rev. Maurice Coleman, Parish Priest of that town.

In Galway, the Rev. N. G. Clayton.

In Lisburn, at the advanced age of 85 years, Mr. William Ravenhill.

In London, the relict of Colonel Primrose Galliez, of the East India Company's service.

On the overland Northern Expedition, aged 24 years,

Lieut. Hood, of the Royal Navy, son of the Rev. Dr. Hood, Chaplain to his Excellency the Marquis Wellesley.

At Tent Lodge, Coniston, George Smith, Esq. late Lieut.-

Colonel in the 4th Dragoon Guards.

At Canterbury, John Cutler, Esq. Deputy Serjeant of the Cinque Ports Admiralty at Ramsgate.

The Rev. S. C. Collins, Rector of St. John's, Exeter.

The Rev. H. Hankey, Rector of North Wingfield, Derby.
