DEATHS.

On Sunday evening, at his house, in Thomas-street, deservedly regretted by his highly respectable friends, and all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance, Edward Carte, Esq.
He has left an amiable wife and family to deplore his loss.
Our limits will not permit us sufficiently to portray the worth of this respectable Gentleman. He was a good husband—an affectionate and indulgent father—a true and sincere friend—and a good landlord—in a word, he was one of the noblest works of God, "an honest man." The only consolation his afflicted family have, is, that he died with truly christian resignation, and has left a world of toil and labour to enjoy everlasting bliss and happiness. His remains left this City yesterday morning at six o'clock, for interment in the family vault at Newcastle, in this County.

On Monday Night, at the New Road, Mr. James Halliday, a strictly honest man.

Yesterday, much regretted, at his house, Bridge-street,
Mr. George McAuliffe, Printer, leaving an afflicted widow and numerous children to lament the death of an affectionate husband and tender parent.

In Creagh-lane, Mr. W. Ferguson, brother of the late Robert Ferguson, John, Esq. of this City.

On Sunday evening, at his seat Moor-Park, near Kilworth, aged 53 years, Stephen Moore, Earl Mount-Cashel, Baron Kilworth. He is succeeded in his title and estate by his eldest son Lord Kilworth. By the death of the Earl Mount-Cashel, a vacancy has occurred in the Irish Representative Peerage.

In Cork, much regretted, Mrs. James Hackett.

Mrs. Godwin, of Sunday's-well.

Mr. Thomas Squirrel.

Samuel Despard, Esq. of Larchhill, Queen's County.

At Blackpool, Cork, Miss Mary Anne Fitzgerald.

The Rev. John Stewart, formerly of Strabane.

In Dublin, much regretted, William Goodbody, Esq.

James Mullan, jun. Esq. of Newry.

At Charlton, Somersetshire, George Page, Esq. of the Lancers, late of the 4th Dragoon Guards.

In London, Thomas Mackenzie, Esq. M. P.

Lieut.-General Waldegrave Pelham Clay.

At Hastings, J. H. Smith, Esq. M. P. for the University of Cambridge, and son-in-law to the Duke of Grafton.

At Windsor, Hugh Cahill, Esq. formerly a partner in the house of Layton and Co. merchants at Moggadore.

At Aberdeen, Doctor Livingstone.

At Hythe, near Southampton, aged 23, Mr. R. Church.

At Walthamstow, Essex, aged 69, G. Ballantyne, Esq.

At Gooty, India, Alexander Oel, Ensign in the Hon. East India Company's service.

In London, Doctor A. Marcet, aged 52.

At Wincanton, the Lady of Commissioner Bowen, of the Navy Board.

George Robertson, Esq. late Paymaster 1st Dragoons.

At Inverness, Alexander Clarke, Esq. late Ordnance Store keeper at Athlone.
