WOOL.
Oldest Established Public Wool Stores
IN IRELAND,
25, USHER'S QUAY, DUBLIN.
LUKE DILLON,
TURNS thanks to his Friends and the Public for the preference he has uniformly experienced—frankly acknowledging the assistance of their further support—and to sell WOOL on commission, at 2 and a half per cent, insuring it and free of storage, as usual—on consignments, will give every accommodation to his customers; being acquainted with the difficulties of this article, should recommend to get each sorted separately—say Hoggets, Wethers and Ewes, and the description on file, to meet the taste in the Invoice as the best sellers would have the benefit of the English markets, as the former gives a very decided preference to the long, heavy combing; and the light Wool suits home consumption—this mode of packing is always in England, as each consumer can get the quantity may require. Best wool-picking supplied on demand.

CHARITY SERMONS.
On SUNDAY next, the 22d INST.
THE CASE OF THE
LYING-IN HOSPITAL,
TO BE PLEADED IN THE CATHEDRAL,
by the Rev. EDWARD HERBERT, Prebendary of Kildare.
AND IN ST. MICHAEL'S CHAPEL,
By the Rev. Mr. COLL.
WHEN it is made known that One Hundred and Ninety-four Women were received into this House on January last, and that not one case perished, the more reason to necessity for any labourer proof of positive usefulness of such an Institution. The House is a debt considerably in debt, and are there any means of continuing the benefits of this Hospital but by this appointed to the feelings of a humane and discerning Public.
The appeal on Sunday next, and that is unattended to, there is an alternative but for the Committee forthwith to close the doors of this House, and leave the Mother and the to languish in sorrow, or perhaps perish for want of relief to be afforded by this Hospital.

We can be assured of the Repeal of the Duties on WOOLLEN GOODS, (which takes place from 12th October next,) above the value of 12s. per yard, and the total repeal of all duty on Fancy Woolenstuffs, Nan-kines, Barbans, Tans and Jerry Stripes, for Trowsers, dec. &c.

He now begs to announce to the public, that he has engaged the agents of the cloth, (which has been imported into the last month from some of the first Manufacturers in England,) so as to give the purchaser every advantage which the late Act of Parliament affords this country—namely, that of giving the produce of the British loom free of duty; and Houses, it is true, may follow his example—but, certainly, the Proprietor of the Golden Eagle, must claim the merit of being the first in this City who has offered this superior advantage to the public; and he believes, he will dispose of a single yard of Cloth at as low a rate as any other House (no matter how extensive) can import them from England.

He now begs to state, that he has been, this week, appointed Agent, in this City, for the sale of Woolen Drapary, manufactured by O'WILLIAMS & SONS, whose goods for superiority of make, beauty of finish, stand unrivalled. The appointment, together with the anticipated repeal of duties, has no roused the public to a certain establishment, or to any one, but he is desirous to offer any more substantial benefits to the public than the mode of writing Advertisements, "but it will not do," the public (who are always best judges) will no longer submit to be imposed on; and as it is by comparison and opposition they are always benefited, the proprietor of the Golden Eagle, fearlessly invites an inspection of his stock, and only requests a single trial to prove the truth of his assertions.

Country Gentlemen are invited to purchase themselves of this advantage (by effecting remittances) of selling prices and colours, and to supply well as to be in a position to offer not approved of will be taken back and the Money returned.
No second prices.
Limerick, June 11th, 1825.
