 Sir John Fenton Boughy, Bart. M. P. for Staffordshire.
 His death is said to have been occasioned by the following circumstance:—He was in excellent health when he went to attend the funeral of Mr. Serjeant Blossett, who had been lately appointed Chief Justice of India; from an impulse of friendship he desired the lid of the coffin to be unscrewed, in order that he might take a farewell look of his friend, and Serjeant Blossett having died of a fever, it is supposed the effluvia from the body communicated the disease, which soon proved fatal to the worthy Baronet.
