we must conclude it is a preliminary step to a get a House of Commons more docile and compliant than the one now in being.—Irish Times.

Friday evening, between the hours of seven and eight o'clock, a gang of miscreants, at least 20 in number, rushed into the house of Patrick Kahil, a poor man who resides in Stratford-row, off Summer-hill; and beat and stabbed him so terribly, that he now lies in Jervis-street Hospital, it is said without hopes of recovery! Not content with this brutal manifestation of their ferocity, the savages attacked his wretched wife, who chanced to enter the house while they were engaged in this diabolical act, and left her in a state of insensibility, covered with wounds and bruises. The unhappy woman is in an advanced stage of pregnancy—and will not, in all probability, long survive the treatment she has received. But, lest any thing should be wanting to complete the satanic cruelty of the barbarians, they nearly strangled three infant children that were in bed when they burst in. We regret to say, that there are strong doubts whether any of the inhuman wretches can be identified.— Kahil, it seems, is a journeyman sawyer, and after obeying the ruinous mandates of the "body-men" for several months, until his miserable family were reduced to beggary---being sometimes for several days without a meal of victuals; the unfortunate being accepted of employment, from Mr. White, of Mecklenburgh-street, the day before yesterday, on wages somewhat lower than those detestable assassins deemed consistent with their lawless regulations? This was the sole cause of their vengeance. After perpetrating this hellish deed, they dispersed, exulting and laughing in a most disgusting manner! We trust the Police, and all who regard the peace of society, will promptly adopt every possible means for the detection of those cold-blooded murderers.

The Police arrested five suspicious persons, 4 of whom were sawyers, one a school-master, named Cassidy. A quantity of papers were discovered in their possession; they are of a very mysterious nature. On searching their residence, in one of them two bayonets on poles were found, two pieces of iron shaped like swords, and three large bludgeons, such as have been used for the purpose of combination, and called slaters; a blow from them is generally likely to produce death. The five men were taken in Smith's public-house in North Cumberland-st. by Montgomery, Kelly, and some police patrol, by whom they were brought up before the Magistrates of the Head Office on Saturday, and have been committed to Newgate for further examination.

At the Quarter Sessions of Ballinrobe on Tuesday last, a Civil Bill action was tried before the Assistant Barrister, in which the Church Wardens of the Union of Kilmoremy (Ballina) were plaintiffs, and Mr. Charles Strogan, of Attymass, was defendant. The action was brought for the recovery of Church cess, which the defendant refused to pay, upon the principle of there being no Church in the parish where he resides, or in the contiguous one of Kilgarven, both of which, it appears, were recently episcopally united to the several others which now form the Union of Kilmoremy. The deed of Union by the Lord Bishop of Killala, (whose son, the Rev. Joseph Verschoyle, is Incumbent,) was produced, and the Assistant Barrister decided in favour of the plaintiffs.—Mayo Constitution.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21.

ATROCIOUS MURDER.

A report having reached Newcastle, on Saturday afternoon, that a man, named John Harnett, had been murdered in the mountains, near Abbeyfeale, Alfred Furlong, Esq. immediately despatched a party of the Police and military to the spot, to prevent the removal of the body till an Inquest should be duly had; and at an early hour next morning, Mr. Furlong and Mr. Percy proceeded to the place where the body lay, accompanied by Mr. Cox, who held an Inquest thereon, which lasted till nine o'clock that night, at which hour the Jury found—"That deceased came by his death in consequence of various wounds, inflicted on his face and head with some sharp substance or instrument, by means of which his skull was broken, and his brains knocked out: and that such act of violence was wilfully committed by some person or persons to them unknown." On Monday morning, Mr. Furlong sent a party to apprehend all suspected persons, who were forthwith brought into Abbeyfeale for examination; and in the course of the day, Mr. Furlong, Mr.
Sargent, Mr. Percy, Mr. Daniel Harnett, and Captain Popham, with a party of the 29th, proceeded to the supposed scene of the murder, and on a diligent search, were so fortunate as to succeed in tracing the foul act in the most clear and satisfactory manner. On their return to Abbeyfeale, a laborious investigation took place before Mr. Furlong, which lasted till two o'clock on Tuesday morning, and ended in a complete discovery of the perpetrators of the murder, viz.
Morty Flynn and Daniel Flynn, of Ballybehy D'Arcy, farmers, and Charles Dawley, servant boy to the former, who are all in custody, and have since confessed their guilt. It appears that this diabolical act was committed, in consequence of Harnett having distrained the Flynn's, as bailiff to Colonel Fitz-Gibbon. Harnett lately resided on the Courtenay estate, and was the person who accompanied Mr. Thomas Hoskins, when that Gentleman was murdered.

Mr. Cox had scarcely entered the house where the Inquest was to be held, when Mr. Harding, the Coroner, from Glyn, arrived, accompanied by the Knight of Glyn's Agent, Joseph Sargent Esq. whose exertions, in conjunction with those of Mr. Furlong and Mr. Percy, were highly instrumental in bringing this important matter so speedily to light. In short, the patience and perseverance of those Gentlemen on the occasion is beyond all praise; and it is but justice to add, that a most praiseworthy disposition was evinced by many of the country people, to bring the delinquents to justice.
