DEATHS.

At Ballynolan, in this County, after a few days illness, the Rev. Thomas Westropp, who, active, upright and intelligent, was, as a Magistrate, highly useful; while his benevolent, friendly, and social habits, secured him the respect and regard of all classes in his neighbourhood, by whom he is deeply regretted. His remains were this day interred at Kildimo Church.

On Tuesday, the Rev. T. O'Hanion, P. P. of Askeaton, in this County.

Yesterday, in Ballingarry, of fever, Rev. John Ambrose,
R. C. Curate of that Parish—he was a zealous, faithful Pastor, and it was in the discharge of his pastoral functions he had taken the contagion, to which he has fallen a victim;
he was much esteemed by his Brother Clergymen, and is now lamented by them and a large circle of friends.

On Wednesday night, at her house, Bedford Row, in this City, Mrs Hogan, relict of the late Peter John Hogan, Esq.
Merchant, leaving a young and afflicted family to deplore the loss of one of the best of women and the best of mothers.

At Westport, on Saturday last, after a short illness, of fever, contracted in the zealous and efficient discharge of his professional duty, James Ambrose, Esq. Surgeon of the South Mayo Militia, and half-pay of Royal Artillery, late of Newcastle, in this County. The general and universal gloom which the death of this Gentleman has occasioned to all who knew him—to every person who was acquainted with and justly estimated his value, is a convincing proof of the loss sustained by the inhabitants of Westport, its vicinity and the country in general.

In Dublin, Surgeon John Drew, Royal Navy.

At Springville, County Leitrim, Townley Lawder, Esq.

In Wexford, Cornelius Fitzpatrick, Esq.

In Chatham-street, Dublin, Mrs. Lambert.

At Kingstown, the Rev. W. Craven, Curate of Mulabrack, in the Diocese of Armagh.

At Park, near Killarney, Denis, second son of George Lombard, Esq.

In Caroline-row, Dublin, Mrs Strickland.

At his house in Gardiner-street, Dublin, on Tuesday last, Arthur Maxwell, Esq. This Gentleman's death was occasioned by a fall from his horse, and he survived but twenty-four hours.

At Cookstown, the Rev. James Oliver.

On Monday, at Bath, Colonel Edge, 23rd Regt. Foot, and late brigadier-general in Ireland.

Mr. William Ashford, of Sandymount, Dublin, a most eminent landscape painter.

In Dame-street, Dublin, Mr. Bott, dentist.

Hugh Neshitt, Esq. of Londonderry, Attorney.

Of fever, Lieut. M. Keogh, half-pay 25th Regiment, son of John Keogh, Esq. one of the Sheriffs of Kilkenny.

At Greenwich Hospital, Captain Samuel Arden.

At Chatham, Lieut. James, Marine Artillery.

At Edinburgh, Lady Caroline Macdonald, daughter of the Earl of Mount Edgecombe.

At Dunbarton Castle, aged 78 years, Major-General Hay
Ferrier, Lieutenant-Governor of that Garrison.

At Dover, Captain Henry Bazely, Royal Navy.

In Cornwall, Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Buller, Bart

In New-York, William Wallace, Esq. son of the late Alexander Wallace, of Waterford, Esq.
