DEATHS.

At Rathkeale, aged 78 years, Thomas Murray, Esq. a Gentleman of the most upright and honourable principles, who through life discharged the duties of a good Christian,
 husband, parent, and friend in the most exemplary manner.
 He lost an arm in gallantly defending his house at Dunmoylan, in this County, from a desperate banditti, who attacked it for the purpose of taking his fire-arms in October, 1808. No man has ever descended to the grave leaving a more indelible impression of his worth in the minds of his family and friends; their consolation is, that few have gone before their Creator, who better merited the rewards of a virtuous and well-spent life.

On Saturday morning last, at the Glebe House of Tulla, County of Clare, the residence of her son, after a lingering and painful illness of many months, which she bore with pious resignation, Mrs. Brew, relict of Richard Brew, late of Richmond, in that County, Esq.

Suddenly, by falling off her chair, at sea, the wife of George Bell, Esq. of Bellview, County Fermanagh, and mother of the County Cavan Under-Sheriff.

In Eccles-street, Dublin, the Rev. Benjamin M'Dowell, Senior Minister of the Scots Church, Mary's Abbey.

On Saturday last, of fever, aged 28 years, John, eldest son of John Keough, Esq. of Kilkenny.

Thursday morning, Mrs. Dunn, wife of George Dunn, Esq.
 Governor of Kilmainham Prison, Dublin.

In Dublin, Mrs. Strettell, relict of Amos Strettell, Esq.

In Waterford, Mr. Patrick O'Brien, Printer.

At Lahinch, aged 101 years, Mr. William Thynne.

In Cork, Mr. Richard Cherry, publican.

In Thurles, Mr. Stephen Boyton, inn-keeper.

In Glasgow, Surgeon William Buchannan, formerly of the 32d Regiment.

In London, Sarah, wife of the Rev. S. Blackburn, of Leonard-house Academy.

In India, Lieutenant George M. Annesley, 22d Native
 Infantry, fifth son of Arthur Annesley, Esq. of Blatchington.

On the 4th instant, at Epping, Mary Marsh, aged 64; and on the 6th instant, William Marsh, her husband, aged 66, Members of the Society of Friends.

Charlotte, wife of Lieutenant John White, R. N. and fifth daughter of Philip Reinagle, Esq. R. A. of Chelsea.

At Hastings, Sophia Olivia, wife of Captain Andrew Barclay, and only daughter of the late Colonel B. N. Kelly, of the Bengal Army.

At Exeter, John North Boydell, Esq. late Lieut.-Colonel of the East London Militia.

Thomas White, Esq. of the Royal Navy.

At Gosport, the wife of R. B. Freer, Esq. of the Royal Veteran Battalion.

Lately, at Norwich, Mrs. Joyce Farrains. By a codicil to the will of the Rev. Dr. Pyle, late a Prebendary of Winchester Cathedral, a considerable sum of money was bequeathed to this Lady, which, at her decease, was directed to be applied for the benefit of the Widows of Bishop Morley's College, in that City. The sum added to the funds of the Charities amounts to about £7000, which will make a
