 at was not properly framed; for if he had y, he would undoubtedly have felt it his very severe sentence on the prisoner.— subordinate officers acting under the orders should be perfectly sensible, that any money from his Majesty's subjects, would meet with a summary and severe punish-one of the first duties of a Court of Law,

DEATHS.

At Coggeshall, Essex, in the 82d year of his age, Rev. John Duddell, Rector of Wormington, Gloucestershire, this exemplary clergyman, was one of the original promoters of Sunday Schools, which he had the satisfaction of living to see, very generally adopted—he passed a long life in the active service of religion and virtue—and never failed to improve every opportunity which would benefit either the temporal or eternal interests of those committed to his charge—he died, respected and beloved by all who knew him.

Yesterday, Emma, eldest daughter of Michael D'Alton, Esq. late of Ross-Castle, County Clare. During a long and painful illness, glorified the grace of her God and Saviour, by a most cheerful resignation to His blessed will, and spent her latest breath in the praise of Him who redeemed her with His precious blood; and though she could not be charged with a single inconsistency, she did not depend upon the rectitude of her truly amiable life for acceptance with God—but upon the blood and righteousness of her great and exalted Saviour.

In Mary-street, much regretted, Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, wife of Mr. A. O'Shaughnessy, Grocer.

Benjamin Hadley, of Castletown, Queen's County, Esq.
 The wife of Mr. Robert Swanton, of Skibbereen.

In Kanturk, Margaret, daughter of the late James Leahy, of Coolacosane, County Cork, Esq.

At Inver Glebe-house, County Donegal, the wife of the Rev. Alexander Kennedy, Rector of that Parish.

At Carrick-on-Suir, Mr. P. May, of the West Gate.

At Coleraine, Mr. William Steen, merchant.

At Shinrone, the relict of Robert Howard, Esq.
 In Dublin, Mr. Thomas Dagnall.

Mr. P. Bridges, of Temple-street, Dublin.

In Kinsale, Mr. John M'Clipch, architect.

At the house of her brother, Sir Edward Stanley, in Harcourt-street, Dublin, Miss Stanley.

In Jamaica, Lieutenant Clandenning, 33d Regiment.

At Dunkeld, Lieut. Marchison, Royal Marines.

At Edinburgh, Major-General George Johnstone, late of the 93d Highlanders.

At Arracan, Ensign Charles Hutchin, 42d Native Infantry.

To the Editor of the Limerick Chronicle.

Newcastle, 19th January 1826 in your paper of Wednesday, the sudden death of Helen, second daughter of the late Justin M'Carthy, Esq. of New-Castle, I request the liberty of informing you, that the young Lady in question is yet living in New-Castle, and never enjoyed more perfect health. And that the vile and contemptible clod-der in resentment, who had fabricated the article and imposed on the freedom of the Press, had no motive whatsoever, but for the sole purpose of wounding the maternal feelings of a Lady than in Cork, whose amiable manners and domestic virtue have ever been a theme of Eulogy, with her family and numerous friends.
