DEATHS.

On Monday, sincerely regretted by her afflicted family and a most respectable circle of society, Elizabeth, relict of the late Samuel Hunter, Esq. of this City, Burgess. The fate of this respected Lady was accelerated by the premature death of an only and beloved son in India.

At his seat, Ballykeale, County Clare, aged 84 years, George Lysaght, Esq.—distinguished through a long life for the strictest honor and probity, and deservedly lamented by all classes in his neighbourhood. Mr. Lysaght was one of the oldest Magistrates in the County Clare.

On Sunday morning, at her lodgings in Shannon-street, after a short but painful illness which she bore with pious resignation, Ellen, wife of Henry Thomas Baylee, of Ballykeale, in the County of Clare, Esq. in the prime of life, and possessed of every virtue fitted to adorn this transitory World—she was a dutiful daughter, an affectionate sister, and an attached wife—her loss must be long and deeply felt by all those she has left behind, as death never did, nor ever can, crop a fairer flower.

A few days since, at Bayly farm, Mrs. Isabella Dawson, aged 81, daughter of the Rev. Thomas Dawson, formerly Rector of Nenagh.

In Rathkeale, on Friday last, Mrs. Bourke, aged 66, relict of Elias Bourke, Esq. and sister to the Rev. James Hamilton, of Buttevant, County Cork.

At eleven o'clock, on the evening of Wednesday, 10th January, at the Episcopal Palace, Waterford, after a painful and protracted illness, supported with truly Christian resignation, Frances, the beloved and accomplished wife of the Hon. and Right Rev. Richard Bourke, D. D. Lord Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, brother and presumptive heir of the Earl of Mayo. She was the second daughter of his Grace the late Most Rev. Robert Fowler, D. D. formerly Archbishop of Dublin, and sister of the Right Rev. Robert Fowler, D. D. Lord Bishop of Ossory, and of the Right Hon. the Countess of Kilkenny. Mrs. Bourke was a most exemplary pattern of female excellence.

On Charlotte's-Quay, aged 84 years, Miss Honora O'Neill.

At Sunday's-Well, Cork, Mrs. Elizabeth Peding.

In the County Wicklow, Patrick Byrne, Esq. aged 98.

On the 14th instant, at his house, Upper Baker-street, Portman-square, London, in the 78th year of his age, Joseph Burke, Esq. for many years an eminent merchant of that city, and only brother of Peter Burke, Esq. of Elm-Hall, Parsonstown.

At Haverhill, Devonshire, Elizabeth, wife of William Houghton, Esq. and eldest daughter of the late Doctor Thomas Ball.

In Upper Sackville-street, Dublin, at the advanced age of 89 years, Mrs. Maria S. Ormsby.

In Kilkenny, the wife of Barnabas Scott, Esq.

In...-street, Newry, Mrs. Mary Scott.

At Warrenpoint, Mr. Thomas Patterson, many years Minister in the Wesleyan Methodist connection.

In Dundalk, Mr. John Tallon.

Of typhus fever, at Mount-Druid, in his 21st year, Charles O'Connor, Esq. great grandson to Charles O'Connor, the historian.

At Edinburgh, Robert Allan, Esq. one of the Surgeons of the Royal Infirmary in that City.

Richard Gardner, Esq. late Assistant Comptroller-General of the Customs in Scotland.

Suddenly, in the Sessions House of Fermoy, on Friday, the Shearman of Kanturk.

Monday, at his residence, at Cumloden Cottage, near Newton-Stewart, in the 54th year of his age, Lieutenant-General the Hon. Sir William Stewart, K.G.C.B. Col. Commandant of the 1st Battalion of the Rifle Brigade, and second son of John, late Earl of Galloway.

Mr. Moritz Von Bethmann, the head of the most extensive banking house in Frankfort.

At Hampstead, Henry Davidson, of Cavendish-square, London, Esq.

At Carlton-House, Newark, Frances, wife of the Rev. Henry Des Vaux.

At Stratford, Samuel West, Esq. a member of the Society of Friends.

Suddenly, in his house in North-street, Newry, the late Mr. George Stues, aged 76 years; a man very generally known for his extensive reading and singularly accurate memory. History appeared to be his favourite study. Few men indeed could with such ease and facility and it is presumed with correctness, sketch out, with his wet finger on the table (being blind for the last 23 years) the marches and countermarches of the armies of Tamerlane, Khoul Khan, and other conquerors down to Napoleon. His mind was a great chronological store-house, in which not only the revolutions of mighty empires, but the rise and fall of almost every family, for nearly a century, in this his native town, were to him equally familiar. He was of mild, quiet habits, and possessed very honorable principles.

At Stoke Cottage, Downshire, after a painful and protracted illness in his 77th year, Major General Sir Charles Holloway, late of the Royal Engineers.

At Torquay, Devon, Mary Anne Henrietta Cashell, daughter of the late Major Cashell and sister of the late Lieutenant-Colonel Cashell of the 10th Foot.

At Edinburgh, Major John Bartleman, late of the Royal Marines.

One of the last of the celebrated Minden heroes died here, in Scotland, on the 20th ult. James Campbell, aged 86 years, an out-pensioner of Chelsea Hospital, lived 25 years in the 12th Regiment of Foot. The first of Minden was fought on the 1st of August, 1759, next morning his company mustered but seven men on duty.

We are happy to be able to contradict the report of the death of Mr. M. Broderick, of Miltown Malbay.]

PUBLIC THANKS.

THE Governesses of the Magdalen Asylum, in returning thanks to a benevolent Public for the kind feeling, with which their appeal in favour of that invaluable, although at present much incumbered Establishment, has been met on last Sunday, feel it their duty to render particular acknowledgements to the Rev.
