

without intermission since five o'clock this morning, and the shops, almost without exception, are closed, and the streets have all the appearance of a Sabbath.

The whole procession through Windsor to the gateway of St. George's Chapel will be flanked by the Cavalry, every sixth man bearing a flambeau; and from the gateway to the Chapel it will be flanked by the Foot Guards.

Upon arrival at the South Door of St. George's Chapel, the servants and grooms, the trumpets and drums will file off without the door. The Body will be removed from the hearse, and carried by Ten Yeomen of the Guard into the Chapel.

So early as Wednesday last, 105 beds were engaged for Saturday, to accommodate his Majesty's Household, at the sum of 10s. 6d. each. Upwards of 300 stalls were engaged at 5s. each. There will be 1300 infantry quartered in Windsor to-night; the cavalry will be billeted in the adjacent hamlets.

Lord George Beresford attended the funeral procession as Comptroller of his Majesty's household, and Lord Mountcharles as Master of the Robes to his Majesty.—The baton of the deceased Duke was borne by Field-Marshal the Earl of Harcourt. The supporters of the canopy were the Marquess of Anglesea, Lord Howden, Lord Hill, and Lord Lyndoch, Earls of Cathcart, Ludlow, Roslyn, and Craven, all Generals in the Army. The Dukes of Clarence, Sussex, and Gloucester, were attired in long mourning cloaks, decorated with the Star of the Order of the Garter.

The Lord Chancellor, having been recommended not to undergo the fatigue of attending the Duke of York's funeral, replied, that he would do so were it to cost him his life next day.

The Officers of Life-Guards and Lancers were in deep mourning.

No public mourning was ever more general in this country, or even so much so, as the present.

The beautiful grey cob, which his late Royal Highness the Duke of York was so remarkably fond of riding, is, by order of his Majesty, to be turned out to graze for the rest of its life.

Sir Herbert Taylor and Colonel Stephenson are the Executors to the Will of his late Royal Highness the Duke of York, the final codicil to which was added the day before his Royal Highness's death.

The French Court goes into mourning for the Duke of York, for six days black, and four days white.

The Duke of Wellington, as far as he is known as a politician, is any thing but respectable—as far as he is known as a man, is any thing but ingratiating. Yet, who is so likely, if we may judge from past services, to make the Army efficient as the Duke of Wellington?—who can know so well the weak and strong points of the Army, and who has so good a claim to the appointment of Commander-in-Chief.—Globe.

His Majesty has had a slight attack of erysipelas, but is doing well.

The Countess of Caithness, widow of the late Earl, Post-Master-General of Scotland, has been granted a pension of three hundred pounds a-year, by Government.

No little exultation is felt by the Navy, it is said, at the idea of having by possibility a Naval King.

Yesterday, Haythorne and Wright, bankers, of Bristol, recovered in the King's Bench 250*l.* damages against the Birmingham Chronicle, for publishing their insolvency during the late commercial distress. The bank had not become insolvent.

—In the Court of King's Bench, on Thursday, Mr. Lanauze of Dublin, was plaintiff in an action to recover the amount of nine bills of Exchange for 1,600*l.* endorsed by a cattle-salesman, named Palmer, at Liverpool.—The defence turned on the plea, that Palmer had not put his name to the bills. The Jury found for plaintiff 1,612*l.* damages and costs.

Hawkin's post, on the 10th of February.

Kean is said to have netted £8000 by his late trip to America.

The distillers of Dublin have memorialled the Lords of the Treasury, on the subject of the Excise Laws on Malt, submitting, that it is the interest of the Scottish distillers to work malt only, and not of the Irish.

The sermon preached for the Fever Hospital in Cork on Sunday, produced 170*l.*—there are 140 patients in the Hospital.

The Limerick Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24.

Last night, a party of ruffians, with their faces blackened, broke into the house of John Scott, at Clontra, near Trugh, County Clare, and robbed it of every article of value worth removing. Scott was in Limerick, and his wife having incautiously said she knew some of the party, when they were about to depart, which, being overheard by some of the fellows, they all returned and literally beat out her brains. Lieutenant Bindon and the Police proceeded there this morning, and we have not yet heard the result.

At an early hour, on Wednesday evening, Captain Atkin, of Youghal, and Mrs. Roe, of Bellvue Park, Tipperary, were travelling in an inside car, near Rosegreen, when they were suddenly stopped by five ruffians, armed with pistols and a bayonet, who darted from the road-side. Captain Atkin was reduced to a state of insensibility by two blows on the head, and one of the party held Mrs. Roe, while the others rifled the car of a capital double-barrelled fowling-piece and powder-horn, the property of Captain Atkin. The ruffians immediately fled on getting their prize.

On Monday night last about twenty armed ruffians carried off the daughter of Walter Chary, of Ballygishleen, near Golden: not satisfied with committing this daring outrage they fired into, and rifled the house of various articles.

Twenty-one Magistrates of Tipperary have presented a requisition to Thomas Adair, Esq. Clerk of the Peace, to convene a meeting of the County, at Cashel, to take into consideration its present alarming state. A meeting has been fixed accordingly for Friday.

Monday morning, an unfortunate man, named M'Namara, from Buteen, was found lying on the Roxboro' road, in the last stage of existence. Death ensued before any attempt was made to relieve him, tho' many persons passing were witnesses to his dangerous condition. An inquest was held by the Mayor, when it appeared the deceased was in a state of intoxication, and had perished from the inclemency of the night.

A young man, from Carricbeg, who had gone to a funeral, in Kilcash, on Sunday, and drank immoderately of spirits, was found dead on the road next morning.

Three sailors were saved from drowning in Waterford, on Saturday, by means of the quay and river watch.

A meeting took place in the County of Cork, on Thursday last, between Henry Harding, Esq. of Derawlin, and Miles Jackson Mason, Esq. of Glenbrook, in this County, when Mr. Mason received Mr. Harding's fire, discharged his pistol in the air, and the matter terminated.

Edmond and Patrick Kennedy, convicted at the last City Assizes for coining base copper, but whose cases remained over for the consideration of the Judges, owing to the change of currency, have been sentenced to nine months' imprisonment, from July last, and to be each burned in the hand. Sentence was deferred by the Judge from a doubt he entertained on the law, since the Act passed for consolidating the currency.

ment to Jamaica
Captain Casey
stationed at Plym
entire in reading
of another comp
On Saturday,
divine worship a Artillery, Scot's
led by Genera Barracks to the
was attended by spectators. The 39th and 90th
11th Chap. St
verses 1, 2, 3,
mirable and ann

Bishop of Limer
hoped, that so e
given to the pu
tolling at interv

On Sunday e
Primitive Wesle
(in connexion w Falloon, on the
His text was tal 14th verse; the
on seats above
numbers were ob
ble privileges gra
who held similar
since the accessi
Throne of this
made a suitable i
the conclusion o
whom were some
in singing the g
the King." Th
cloth.

On Saturday
remains of his la
strong proofs we
which his charac
was divine serv
Church at which Regiment comm
tended in ntourn
there resident als
floated from the
bell solemnly tol
day. The Char
black, and the a congregation wo

Business was t
the shops closed.

The Rev. Mr
oration, on Wed
on the death of the military were

The Non-Com
Privates of the d
town, deeply imp
tained by the d
Duke of York,
Friend," they ha
wear Crape Mo
owe to that augu
request, Major
accede, and the
on their arm

On Sunday, t
at Tralee, under proper mark of r
and lamented Co
and men) in dev