

Extensive Cloth Auction

JAMES RYAN

HAVING disposed of his interest in the George's-street, wherein he at present resells by Auction, on MONDAY NEXT, at Eleven o'clock, in lengths to suit every purchaser, the Entire Stock consisting of superfine Black, Blue, Brown, and Claret Cloths; a great variety of West of England Cassimeres, Waistcoatings, Blue Livery Cloths; Blue, Scarlet, and Crimea and Pellisse Cloths; Cloth Shawls, Russia Dresses, Camlets, Ladies and Gentlemen's Silks and Worsted Hosiery; Marcellis Quilts, Coats &c. &c. &c.

This Sale will be well worth the attention of the trade, as the goods having been purchased for a long time, are very superior to what are generally sold at Auctions, and as J. R. is discontinuing his Woollen Business, and has sold his Interest in the West of England Woollen Hall, to whom he has given immediate possession, the whole must be sold at the least reserve.
