TO THE ELECTORS OF THE COUNTY OF LIMERICK.

GENTLEMEN,
THE Contest for the Election of a Member to serve in Parliament for your County has at length closed. My opponent may claim the victory, but I shall not acknowledge a defeat. A colourable Majority obtained by illegal and unconstitutional means can afford no cause for triumph, nor ground of ultimate success—desperate mobs, personal violence, fictitious votes, most extraordinary decisions, the voter on his way to the Poll intimidated, and those who succeeded in arriving there assaulted on their return. Those who were bound to protect a free exercise of the Franchise avoiding that Constitutional interference to preserve public order which the law directs and enables them to afford. To such aid, and to such alone is my Opponent indebted for his return.

In such a state of official inactivity and public disorganization, what other course could I pursue than that which I have adopted? I had no alternative but to seek that result before a Committee of the House of Commons, which I might have confidently relied upon at the Hustings, if my friends could have tendered their votes without personal danger. I could not think of sacrificing human life, without which all efforts would have been unavailing. I stated to the Sheriff that such consideration

LIFE INSURANCE

THE Directors beg to announce that they have recently determined to adopt a new System of Life Insurance, which they believe will be productive of considerable benefit to the insured.

In addition to the present Reduced Scale of Insurances for £100 the whole duration of Life, will be entitled to the Disposable Surplus Premiums, at the end of every Fifth year, from the date of issue.

The Surplus allotted to each Policyholder in either of the following ways, at the option of the insured—viz.:

By adding the same as a BONUS to the sum payable at the death of the life, by which the Policy Holder may receive an increased sum; or the Surplus may be applied to the purchase of additional FIRE INSURANCE.

The Disposable Surplus Premiums, on all Insurances, will be ascertained at the end of every year, and persons then insured to the amount of £100 and upwards, and whose Policies shall have been in force for the two preceding years, will be entitled to a Moiety of such surplus.
