DEATHS.

This morning, at the house of her husband in George's-street, to the irreparable grief of her family and friends, Margaret, the beloved wife of Mr. George McAern, she was a fond and a most affectionate parent.

On Friday, in Clare-street, to the irreparable grief
of her sorrowing family, aged 74 years, Mary Anne, widow of the late A. C. Stritch, Esq. of Ennis—a lady who, through a long life, was a bright example of every virtue. As a wife, parent, and friend, few equalled—none could excel her. Her heart was the seat of the purest and truest religion, and in her last hours she enjoyed the comfort of it, she died rejoicing in her Lord.
Her remains left this yesterday for Ennis to be interred in the family vault, where her numerous and respectable friends awaited with unfeigned regret.

On Friday night, in Henry-street, aged seven years,
James, second son of the late Captain John Campbell, 12th Regiment.

On Monday, in Clare-street, William Frederick, infant son of John Parker, Esq.

Jonas Morris, Esq. of Dunkettle, Cork.

In Somersetshire, Admiral Sir Henry Nicholls.
At Caen, in France, Mrs Margaret Mandeville, relict
of the late Captain T Mandeville, of Carrick-on-Suir.

In Waterford, Miss Mary Anne Forristall.

At Mount Cross, near Macroom, Mary Anne, relict
of the late John Pearson, Esq.

At Phibsborough, Dublin, on Thursday, Sarah, wife
of Mr John Masterson.

Sunday, in Fishamble-street, Dublin, at an advanced age, Robert Langley Usher, Esq. of the Commissariat Department.

At Cove, at an advanced age, Elizabeth, relict of the late Patrick Curry, Esq. of Cork.

At Acton-Park, Donbighshire, Harriot, wife of Sir P Cunliffe, Bart.

At Grosvenor Lodge, the Hon Mrs John Stapleton, wife of Lieutenant-Colonel Stapleton, eldest daughter of the late Lord Southampton, and sister to the present.

On Essex quay, Dublin, at an advanced age, Mr John Neilson, Printer.
