a quantity of earthenware, coals and iron, twenty-one cases, containing 420 guns, all under regular clearance from the Custom-house, Liverpool.— Application having been made at the Custom-House of this port, for leave to land the goods, preparatory to the vessel being repaired, it was granted, and directions were given that the arms should be forwarded to this City by the Chance, Revenue cruizer, to be lodged in the King's warehouse as a place of security, until the vessel might be prepared to sail for her destination. The necessity for the vessel having been run into the Shannon, is proved from the circumstance of her having since been surveyed and condemned as unworthy of repair. She has been advertised in our columns for sale next Monday.

The brief paragraph inserted in our last, referring to this subject, was taken from a Tralee Paper.

Mary McDonnell, a young woman unmarried, flung herself into the Canal, between the two bridges, on Monday night, and was drowned.— She was, it appears, attached to a man named Patrick Grady, a tradesman, and whom she vainly urged to marry her. Under this disappointment she rushed from his presence the above night, and found a watery grave.
