 In her father's house, by the Rev. W. Freeland, of the Scots Church, Kingston, the Rev. Samuel Mitchel, of Money-more, to Catherine, only daughter of James Shaanon, of Monkstown, County of Dublin, Esq.

DEATHS.

Yesterday, at his house in Thomas-street, Timothy Bunton, Esq. He was an affectionate husband, a tender father, and a sincere friend. In his last moments he was sustained by a firm trust and confidence in the merits of his crucified Redeemer.

At Salins, quite suddenly, while on her passage from Dublin to Nass, in the Canal Packet Boat, Mrs. Manders, widow of the late Alderman Manders. She was in perfect health a few moments previous to her death, and had been conversing in the most cheerful and agreeable manner with other passengers, principally on religious subjects, when she laid her head on the table, and became a lifeless corpse in a few seconds.

Thursday morning, in Rutland-street, of water on the brain, aged three years, Jeremiah Langley, third son of George Jackson, Esq.

In London, Lieut. T. O'Halloran, half-pay, 22d Foot, eldest son of the late John O'Halloran, Esq. of this City.

At Fort-William, East Indies, Bryan Keatinge O'Dwyer, Lieutenant 16th Regiment of Infantry, and second son of Morgan O'Dwyer, of Cullen, in the County Tipperary, Esq.
 a young man beloved and respected by all his brother officers,
 and now removed by death from this transient, this delusive scene—a death too, resulting from the unbounded zeal with which he uniformly discharged his every, no matter how trifling, duty—sincerely regretted in a service, thus prematurely deprived of talents which, thro' a short but creditable career, were not more universally acknowledged than they were unaffectedly admired.

In Eccles-street, Dublin, Samuel Adams, Esq.

At Stephen's-green, the daughter of W. M. Eason, Esq.
 of scarlatina; and the day after, his son, of the same fatal complaint.

At Barberstown, County Dublin, Christopher Gilbert, Esq

At Coalisland, James Lecky, Esq.

At Rathmines, Jonathan Williamson, of Mount Brown, Esq.

At Rush, Lieut. D. Gladwell, Royal Navy.

In Tipperary, Mr. Joseph Prosser.

At Priorland, County Louth, Mrs. Bourne, relict of John Bourne, Esq. Clerk of the Peace for that County.

At his residence, Corcrevy House, County Tyrone, Matthew James Burnside, Esq. for many years Magistrate of that County.

At the house of his uncle, the Rev. James Hally, P. P.
 Ballypatrick, County Tipperary, Mr. Jeremiah Hally.

Richard, second son of the Rev. A. Vesey, of Magherafelt.

At Peter's-well, near Gort, the Rev. Michael Gleeson, Parish Priest of Kilstormer, County Galway.

In Great George's-street, Cork, Mrs. Williams, aged 70.

At Shanakiel, County Cork, Catherine, relict of the late David Leahy, Esq.

In Edinburgh, suddenly, Sir John Connell, Judge of the Admiralty.

At Harbourstown, county Meath, Harriet, third daugter of Richard O'Farrell and the Hon. Mrs. Caddell.

At Markham, near Clifton, Mrs. Miller, relict of the late Rev. Oliver Miller, of Prospect-house, near Blackrock, Dublin.

THE MARKETS.

The immense arrivals of foreign wheat in London, and consequent decline in prices, with a continuance of fine weather here, keep our Markets without any advance,
