To the Free and Independent Electors of the County Clare

GENTLEMEN,

I HAVE for a second time the pleasing task of returning you my most sincere and grateful thanks for the high and distinguished honor which you have conferred upon me. To represent your independent County in Parliament, has ever been the highest ambition of my life. You have thus gratified that ambition to its fullest extent when I look to the triumphant majority by which I am placed at the head of the Poll, I view it as the sure and convincing proof that my Parliamentary conduct has met with your approbation. I shall endeavour to prove my gratitude, by continuing in the same line of duty, and on all occasions, closely attending to the interests of the County in general, and my native County, in particular.

I have the honor to remain, Your obliged and obedient Servant, WILLIAM N. MACNAMARA
