An Admirer of Chess wishes a reply to the following Query:—A's King is in such a situation that B's Queen cannot check mate him, but she can check him for ever ; B is unable to reinforce his Queen, and A, although her forces are superior to B's in the proportion of three to one, cannot extricate the King from his unpleasant position. B claims a drawn game, but A thinks that B should make some move that would release the King.
