DEATHS.

On Thursday, at his house in Day Place, Tralee, much and deservedly lamented, Stephen Henry Rice, Esq. for a period of thirty years the highly respected Assistant-Barrister of the county Kerry.

Wednesday night, at his seat, Six-mile Bridge, county Clare, aged 80 years, William Russell, Esq. formerly a resident for over forty years of Bank-Place, Limerick. This venerated and lamented Gentleman carries with him to the grave the respect of that numerous circle, with whom his long course of business made him acquainted,—the gratitude of relatives, whose interests he anxiously promoted,—and the affectionate attachment of those who, unrelated to him by blood, have the more cause to retain in lasting recollection the disinterested zeal, the ardent friendship, the strict integrity, and unerring judgment, which distinguished him through life.

At her son's house in Patrick-street, Mrs. Story, relict of the late Richard Story, of this City, Esq. and sister of Joseph Barrington, Esq.—a most worthy respectable woman. At her daughter's house, Grattan-street, Cork, Mrs. Charlotte Bernard, relict of the late Wm. Bernard, of that city, master cooper.

At Tullylost, County Kildare, Thomas Johnson, Esq. In Wicklow, George David Rowan, Esq. In Kilkenny, Mrs. Gregory, relict of Surgeon Gregory. In Camden-street, Dublin, William Nicholson, Esq.

At Roscrea, on the 22d ult. Lydia, third daughter of Wm. McGennis, Esq. aged 4 years.—This fascinating little innocent when in the kitchen, fell into a tub of scalding water, and after lingerings for two days, her harmless spirit fled to the bosom of her Creator.

At her father's house, Erne-street, Dublin, Margaretta, youngest daughter of the Rev. J. B. M'Crea.

At Ballinakill, Queen's County, Patrick Dillon, Esq. At her lodgings, North Main-street, Cork, Mrs. Helena Murphy, wife of Mr. Denis Murphy, and eldest daughter of the late Wm. P. Flynn, Esq. M.D. of Cloyne.

In Kilkenny, Mrs. Pack, wife of Dr. Thomas Pack. In Bath, in her 68th year, Mary Anne Quin, widow of Windham Quin, Esq. and sister of Richrd Dawson, Esq. of Dawson Grove, Monaghan.

In London, Colonel Sir R. Hamilton, formerly of the 8d Regiment of Foot Guards.

Suddenly, the infant child of Lord and Lady Petre. Lord Robert Spencer, uncle to the Duke of Marlborough.

Limerick Commercial House, 134, GEORGE'S-STREET.
