

direct arrivals this morning from the latest conference it has been determined purely commercial.

between two Englishmen at Boulogne yesterday, and one of them, Mr. the ground. A gaming transaction took place to-day at the Stock Exchange arrival of an express from Paris, such troops had entered Brussels. My's birth-day was celebrated by a ant at Windsor Castle, and every enthusiasm and joy.

Governor of the Irish Society, Mr. M. P. for Coleraine, and Mr. Watt, Society, had a long interview with Home-office, on the subject of the ty's estates in Ireland.

were killed in different parts of England Friday last.

rand, brother to the comedian, cut y. sq. of Connaught terrace, is committing threatening personal chastisement to J. P. for some remarks made in a of Baker-street, was driving his gig lay, when a sudden fit of apoplexy and he was carried home in a lifeless in officer of the United States Army, Hall yesterday, for gross language to Deptford.

of Brunswick-square, lost on Friday is fortune, upwards of £22,000 in

Edward Hogsden, aged 50, was tried of the most detestable and shocking in nature a mortal could be guilty of, of Harriet Hogsden, a girl of 17 er, on the very bed which his wife, had just left the same morning!—

case unfolded as lamentable a scene te guilty parent as ever was recorded

What stamps this as a climax of t elicited on trial, that when he aty at the side of this unfortunate vie-previous incestuous connexion which id compelled her to submit to! The 'guilty without hesitating a moment, ately passed sentence of death. The st callous feeling.

on Tuesday, Sir Mark Wood reco-amount of the Guy Stakes run at War-ld claimed by the plaintiff, but which Course, held over, in consequence of the plaintiff and Mr. Beardsworth, entenced to be hanged at Warwick, pon the person of Eliza Dean, a child Ann Higgins, an orphan, aged ad sentenced to death for the murder reared her, and whose little fortune, ter! It is thought she was instigated g man she was attached to.

uck dead by lightning, at Thetford, nation of the English labourers at the of Irish among them, that on Thurs-1 were set upon in Lincolnshire, and ted! The magistrates and constables arrive till the outrage was perpetrated. d to, and are doing as well as can be ed £16,000 in London in two months, eekly at the Opera House, and about ning concerts, he will, by continuing it fifty thousand pounds at the end of

IN HIGH LIFE.—The Lady of a rich stored to conjugal rights, is stated to r husband's roof, under very painful atrimonial affairs, experienced people like beginning as you mean to go on. LIBERATORS.—Mr. Thomas Steele, the believe, of "the Order of Liberators" arning within the walls of Banco Regis. e should imagine, does not exactly usive view of a member of the order. A rumour is very prevalent at the-west a Noble Earl, with a musical cogno-ause shown him to espouse a certain

The Dublin Royal Regatta commenced on Saturday, under auspices of a most favourable and gratifying nature. The day was as splendid as uninterrupted sunshine, magnificent scenery, and female beauty could render it—not a single cloud appearing either in the literal or metaphorical sense, which might cast a gloom on the proceedings, or mar for an instant the enlivening pleasures of a regatta. The yachts started from moorings laid down in Kingstown harbour, shaped their course round the southernmost vessels, keeping the direction vessels on the larboard head until they returned to harbour. The band of the 70th were all day in attendance. They played several popular airs and beautiful overtures—The Dicky Sam, J. C. Shaw, Esq. won the Kingstown challenge cup of £100.

The subscription books for the Dublin Musical Festival, in aid of the public charities, were opened at the Mansion-house on Wednesday last, and upwards of one thousand tickets have been already subscribed for.

Yesterday the convict Dillon was conveyed aboard the Bussorah convict ship in chains.

The Ex-Royal family of France came over from Scotland in the Foyle steamer last Wednesday, to see the walls of Derry.

The 'Prentice Boys of Derry celebrated the raising the siege of that ancient City, last Saturday, with the usual eclat.

The majority at the close of the Meath election for Mr. Grattan was 159. On Thursday he was chaired through Trim—and in the evening the town was illuminated.

A satisfactory explanation has taken place before the High Sheriff, his Assessor, the successful Candidate, and another Gentleman, respecting difference which took place, on the second day's polling at Meath, between a Deputy and a professional gentleman.

It is thought an attempt will be made to unseat Mr. Grattan for Meath, on the ground of being a fraudulent fabricator of freehold votes, as proved on the Dublin Election Petition.

Mr. Vigors, the new candidate for Carlow town, is appointed a Magistrate for the County Carlow.

The Lord Lieutenant, in a Letter through his Secretary to the Magistrates of Newtownbury, after the fatal affray there, expresses his regret that Yeomanry should ever be called out when a Military or Police force can be made available.

Patrick Stewart was executed at Lifford gaol on Monday, for the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Little, and then burning their house. Two brothers of the prisoner were hanged for the same crime last Spring Assizes. The rope broke at the execution, and the unfortunate culprit fell a height of several feet, he was tied up again in half an hour, when his sufferings were terminated. Precisely the same dreadful accident occurred at the execution of his brothers!

Several Magistrates of the County Mayo were severely reprimanded by Judge Vandeleur for returning prisoners to trial at Assizes which should be sent to Quarter Sessions.

It is not true that the new Lord Bishop of Derry has entered into any compromise about the revenues of that see.

The illness of the Lord Bishop of Ferns was induced by a cold caught in visiting the Thames Tunnel.

Eleven head of cattle, seized for tythes due the Dean of St. Patrick, were put up for sale at Castlecomer on Thursday, and no purchaser, they were bought in by the Dean's Agent, and sent on to Dublin.

A tythe-surveyor of the Rev. James Pearson, of Dunmore, county Kilkenny, was attacked by a number of country people while valuing crops this week. They cut his valuation book in pieces, and swore him never again to value tythes in that parish.

Exportation of dead bodies from the North of Ireland to Scotland is still carried on to a shameful extent. A young Student, at Glasgow, was caught last week in charge of a hamper on the quay, marked "Coleraine Salmon." The crowd insisted on its being opened, and what was inside—a human body? The mob flew on the Student with the utmost fury, and he narrowly escaped death from their hands.

A gold snuff-box, value forty guineas, has been purchased by the inhabitants of Carrick and Carrickbeg, to be presented, with a suitable address, to Dr. Fleming, R.C. Bishop of St. John's, Newfoundland.

Bushertown, in the King's County, is advertised for sale. The Earl of Lucan is about cutting a Canal from Ballina to Lough Conn, and thence to Castlebar.

Herbert B. Kelly, of the county Westmeath, corn and spirit merchant, is remanded six months by the Insolvent Court of Dublin, for fraud to his creditors.

Wm. Moore, of Shannon Harbour, applied to be discharged on Saturday in the Insolvent Court—he was opposed by Mr. Charles W. Williams, who lost £180 by him. The petition was dismissed, as also that Mr. Richard Moseley, jeweller.

BANKRUPTS.—Sir A. Bradley King, Bart. of Dublin—John Mitchell, jun. of Galway, merchant.

THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 17.

Monday last, a General Court-Martial assembled at Ennis for the trial of Major Cadell, of the 28th Regiment of Infantry.—President: Major-General Sir G. R. Bingham, K.C.B. Members: Lieutenant-Colonels Mein, 74th Regi-

BARBAROUS OUTRAGE AND MURDER.

On Sunday night week, the 7th instant, the house of an industrious young man named James Doherty, of Shanacough, near Ulla, in this County, was attacked by a party of persons, who upon breaking in the door, rushed to his bed side, and fractured his skull in a dreadful manner, stabbed him in two places in the left side, and also in the right arm; all resistance was vain, the ill-fated young man was overpowered, and his servant boy, Thomas Magrath, had his arm broken. Doherty never spoke after, lingered in an insensible state until Thursday, the 11th when he died. Three women who were in the house "say they do not know any of the people who came in." At the Inquest on the body, held by James Bennett, Esq. Coroner, on Saturday last, these three women refused to give any evidence—they have been since committed to the County Jail for further examination. Various causes are assigned for this brutal murder, but it is confidently hoped, the outraged laws will be vindicated in this as well as every other similar instance, which it has fallen to our lot to record for some years past in this County.

Robert Bemrose, Master and Serjeant of the band of the 76th Regiment, in this garrison was found dead on Monday evening at his lodgings in Roden-lane, convenient to the New Barracks. The deceased man was unfortunately addicted to irregular habits of living, and under the pernicious influence of a debauch, fastened himself by the neck from the roof of the bed, and thus died of strangulation. The wife had previously left the bed-room at his request, and taken out the children, requesting her husband, who was much agitated, to take some rest. In her absence the fatal deed was committed; she returned in half an hour, but he was then being cut down quite senseless. The Mayor held an inquest on the body yesterday morning. Verdict—Temporary derangement.

Monday, the Mayor held an inquest at the County Infirmary on the body of Luke Gleeson, of Ballineagard, who died in that Institution the previous day of fracture on the head. It appeared in evidence that so late as the 31st of May last, he received a blow of a stone on the head at the fair of Glenogra, for which wound he was brought into Hospital, and languished until Sunday last. Verdict—Wilful murder.

Constantine Smith, the Pensioner, whose attempted assassination we mentioned in our last, is not dead. He lies dangerously wounded at the residence of Mr. Vokes, where he receives the most humane attention and eminent professional attendance.

The Terry All system is not yet extinct in the neighbourhood of Broadford. Three or four months since the wife and family of the Rev. William Butler's steward were obliged to abandon their house, because the husband had proved himself a treacherous and faithless servant. The persecuted man erroneously thinking the insurrectionary system had passed over, resolved to send for his family, and with that view built up a rick of turf convenient to the house, for their use. Saturday night, however, the pile of turf was observed in flames, but the malicious purpose of the incendiaries was not accomplished, as Captain Campbell's detachment of the 74th Regiment immediately turned out and assisted in getting down the conflagration. Had the wind been from the opposite quarter, the steward's dwelling-house would have been consumed. Mr. Butler had it confidentially from a gentleman a short time before, that the first new outrage to be committed in the barony would be against his steward.

Two persons named Kennedy, against whom there had been informations, for being concerned in the Police murder some time ago at Doolan, County Clare, were arrested on Thursday last on board a ship off Black-head, in the bay of Galway, which was about to sail for America; and also a third person named Macheen, charged with the murder of a man named Moloney, near Cratloe. The three were taken by Serjeant Moran, of the County Galway constabulary, and by him transmitted to Ennis Gaol. A fourth fellow named Barry, charged with the murder of Mr. Blood, was on Monday taken on board a vessel in Galway, which is also destined for America.

A letter to our Office from Cashel, dated yesterday, states:—On Thursday last, the 11th instant, while a party of Police (twelve in number) who were ordered by Mr. Fitzgerald, Chief Magistrate, to protect three men of Archdeacon Cotton's, valuing Tithes at Luke near Thurles, were attacked by a mob of about 200 persons, who appeared very determined not to allow the Valuers to proceed, and were consequently obliged to retire on the Police for protection; after the mob persisted (but to no use) for the Valuers to be given up to them, the Police were obliged to prime and load, in order to effect a safe retreat.

Up to a late hour on Saturday no person had been arrested for any of the three murders committed within the last few weeks in the neighbourhood of Tipperary.

William Connelly was murdered at Currakeily, county Waterford, on Monday, in a drunken riot.

James Cane, a Policeman, is committed to Clonmel gaol for killing Michael Tierney, at the last fair of Borris-Ileigh by a stab of his bayonet.

Michael Burke, a sawyer, was killed in a merchant's concern at Galway on Wednesday.

Monday last, a poor country labourer sat to rest himself under a stook of corn in a field where he was working, near Cappawhite, county Tipperary. A thunder-storm came on and the unfortunate man was killed by a flash of lightning

LIN, AUGUST 16.

It is now residing at Kingstown. I will not offer himself for the representation. This decision of a worthy and upright heard with regret even by many of his