

with indisposition (which they trust in God will be but temporary), they nevertheless hope that the loss of his able personal advocacy in their behalf on the present occasion will be made good by a humane community, in providing for them the usual Breakfast and Dinner on Christmas Day.—Donations in Money or Food will be thankfully received and acknowledged at the Chronicle Office, or by the House Steward.

Alderman Watson, Treasurer of the House of Industry, has received from P. S. and T. G. Five Shillings towards the Christmas Dinner for the poor inmates—also, One Pound from John Greene, of Green Mount, Esq.

BAZAAR.—We understand it is the intention of the benevolent Ladies of this City and neighbourhood, to have a Bazaar at the Buildings in Lower Cecil-street, on Saturday next—we trust it may be productive and we have no doubt it will, under such auspices and for such a purpose, and we think that such a thing ought to be held two or three times a-year, in order to afford our young Ladies more frequent opportunity of exercising their skill and ingenuity, in the most pleasing and profitable employment for the benefit of the poor. The return of this season should not fail to remind us with awakening feelings of gratitude and love of Him who though rich became poor, that we might possess the true riches. Those who live in the narrow sphere of fashionable dissipation, who go round and round in the same heartless, rapid, and unvaried scene of what they call enjoyment, the sorrows of the wretched never interest or disturb; the widow's wail, the orphan's cry, or the tear of sorrow that burns up the cheek of virtue, all alike are disregarded!

M^R J. V. TUTHILL, of 22 Fitzroysquare, who had been a martyr to the Gout for twenty years, feels it his duty to announce to his fellow-creatures that which an all-wise Providence empowered him to discover, an INFALLIBLE SPECIFIC for the GOUT, of which he has had manifest proof.

The Patentee feels it also his duty openly to avow, that his Specific does not contain a particle of Mercury, of Colchicum, or of the Eau Medicinale; his Specific is a compound of simples, yet so efficient, that it not only expels the disease, but prevents its return; its secondary quality is, that being composed of such innocent ingredients, it imposes no restraint, neither does it require confinement, or deviation from any duty—any occupation.

The Patentee has followed the mild regimen, of taking a table-spoonful of it every morning those latter twenty months, in the nature of daily food, without the assistance of any medicine, by which temperate system, he has so effectually unrooted the disease, and so efficiently abated and dissolved the chalk stones and weakness occasioned by its venom, as now to enjoy the most perfect use of his joints and limbs, which had been, for many years, contracted and useless.

The Patentee, feeling from experience the necessity of an instantaneous expose, particularly to sufferers, proposes to dispense his Specific, every Morning from Six to Ten, at his house, (it must be taken two hours before breakfast) or, if more pleasing, as being more convenient, the Patentee will divulge the ingredients to every invalid who shall subscribe £200, when each can compound it in his own house, under his own eye, thus submitting the material of this Specific to the strict scrutiny of self-examination, and thus enabling each to hand the RECIPE, as an heir-loom, to his offspring.

The Patentee, anxious to render homage to Providence, by the exercise of every Christian feeling, will require no remuneration until he proves the efficient properties of his Specific, which may justly be denominated

THE RENOVATOR OF HEALTH,

Inasmuch as, the Patentee (though twenty years a cripple from Gout) now enjoys, at the age of fifty-five, almost all the attributes of youth—vigour, agility, good appetite, easy digestion, and soft and tranquil sleep.

The Patentee may be consulted, from Six in the Forenoon to Two in the Afternoon of each day, at his house, 22, Fitzroy-square, where satisfactory letters and references—noble, lay, and medical—will be submitted to every visitant.
